PARLIAMENT ENDED WHEN MACDONALD IS DEFEATED

Labor Government Is Outvoted in House of Commons, 364 to 198, on Vital Motion of Liberals.

GENERAL ELECTION
SET FOR OCT. 29

Socialist Leader Predicts That His Party Will Return to Power When Country Expresses Self.

Associated Press
LONDON, Oct. 9.—The House of Commons will be dissolved tomorrow and a general election will be held Oct. 29, it was announced afternoon after King George VI held a private council at Buckingham Palace, at which he signed a proclamation proroguing Parliament.

The announcement of the date for the election, which will define the political complexion of the Government which will succeed Great Britain's first Labor ministry, was made after Prime Minister MacDonald, coming into attention before the House, which last night defeated his Government, declared that the King had agreed to his request for the dissolution of Parliament which will be prorogued tonight.

Irish Bill Passed.
The Premier also announced that the new Parliament would meet a week or two after the date of the general election.

At 6 o'clock this evening, the House of Commons was summoned to the House of Lords to hear the King's speech, read by Lord Chancellor, giving assent to the Irish boundary bill, which previously had been passed by the House of Commons, and proroguing Parliament.

It was understood that the question of the resignation of the Cabinet was not touched upon at a conference this morning between King and MacDonald.

Crowd Cheers Premier MacDonald left Buckingham Palace after an audience which began at 5 o'clock and lasted an hour.
He returned immediately to No. 10 Downing street for a Cabinet meeting.

As he made his way into the crowd street a crowd which had gathered in front of the prime ministerial residence cheered him and there were shouts of "Good Mac!"

Dispatch and New York World.

LONDON, Oct. 9.—The Labor Government crashed last night after months of power when, at the end of a seven-hour debate between the Government and opposition, the House of Commons voted by a vote of 364 to 198, a de-motion for inquiry into the withdrawal of a prosecution of James Campbell for sedition.

Campbell, editor of the Conservative Weekly, was accused of inciting soldiers to mutiny and the opposition charged that the Government had caused the dropping of the prosecution.

MacDonald and Colonel J. H. Thomas refused to accept the demand for an inquiry into the dropping of the prosecution. He said the proposition would not be to censure the Government, but to insist on a full inquiry as provided by the Liberal Constitution.

JAPANESE BARON GIVES 4-DAY FETE COSTING $400,000

Okura Celebrates His 88th Birthday With Entertainment Which Riles Jingo.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch and the Chicago Daily News.

TOKIO, Oct. 9.—The Talkosha, or "National Spirit Preservation Society," which may be compared to the American Ku Klux Klan, has issued a manifesto against Baron Okura, a self-made merchant prince, who is noted for his public spirit and philanthropy, and who founded and supports a technical school for poor boys and has given parks and museums to the public.
Baron Okura, celebrating his eighty-eighth birthday, invited 5000 of the most prominent people of the capital to a series of four days' theatrical entertainments and banquets, which are to be simultaneous with the reopening of the Imperial Theater. The cost of the entertainment is estimated at more than a million yen ($400,- 000). The Talko-sha has now warned Baron Okura to abandon such entertainments under penalty of "serious consequences." They assert that any form of entertainment for foreigners is unpatriotic.

ZR-3 ON FINAL TRIAL BEFORE STARTING TO U. S.

Giant Dirigible Expected to Reach
New York by Daylight and Circle Over City.

By the Associated Press.

FRIEDRICHSHAFEN, Germany,
Oct. 9.—The giant dirigible ZR-3 built here by the Zeppelin Co. for the United States Navy, started today on what her builders hoped would be her last trial flight before she starts Saturday on the trans-Atlantic voyage to Lakehurst, N. J.
The airship was under command of Capt. Ernest A. Lehman. Dr.
Hugo Eckener, director of the Zeppelin Co., who had taken her up on the previous trial flights, remained on the ground today to gaze his first view of the ship in the air.

Dr. Eckener said that if weather permitted, he would endeavor to reach New York during daylight and in that event would circle over the city for an hour or two before proceeding to Lakehurst.

Originally it had been planned to take only 200 pounds of mail, but such a flood of letters and postcards arrived during the last week that the authorities, with the consent of Zeppelin officials, increased the mail allotment to 300 pounds.
John E. Kehl, United States Consul at Stuttgart, has arrived here and arranged for clearance papers for the ZR-3. The big dirigible, built by the Zeppelins for the American navy, is expected to start on her flight to Lakehurst, N. J., Friday or Saturday, providing the Atlantic weather is favorable.

night. Sixty houses were destroyed.
Central Japan also suffered from the storm, telegraphic and railway

Evidence submitted at Wash-prominent critics that the songs were of "inferior quality." Gross receipts for the company last year were placed at $16,000 by investi-

Bell's statements regarding the number of songs set up at $32.50

By the Associated Press.

EASTLAND, Tex., Oct. 9.—The Shenandoah passed over Eastland at 12:50 p. m. A strong wind from the south was blowing and the ship occasionally had to turn into the wind to keep on its course. This was believed to be putting it behind schedule.

By Junius B. Wood,

Chicago Daily News and the Post-Dispatch.

spondent aboard the Shenandoah, and his wireless dispatches from the ship are available to the entire press of the country through the various news agencies.)

ABOARD THE U. S. S. SHEN-ANDOAH, Oct. 9.—(By Radio to WBAP, Fort Worth, Tex.)—The Shenandoah circled above Fort Worth at an elevation of 1200 feet, then gradually rose to 2000 feet.

The weather was right when the ship left the mooring mast.
The route, as outlined for the trip to San Diego, is over the Texas and Pacific Railroad right-of-way to El Paso, which should be reached about midnight, according to present weather indications.

The route from El Paso will be either along the line of the Southern Pacific to San Diego, or the line of the El Paso and Southern railroads, farther south. Tucson should be reached about daylight and the route from there will be direct to the west coast, or it is especially good the route will go from Yuma directly to San Diego over the mountains. If unfavorable, the course will be laid along the Salton Sea.

FORT WORTH, Tex., Oct. 9.—
After a delay of 45 minutes waiting for the sun to come from behind some low-hanging clouds and shine long enough to expand the helium in its huge body, the naval dirigible Shenandoah cast off from Fort Worth on the second leg of its transcontinental flight at 9:46
a. m. today, Central standard time.

After circling over Fort Worth, the silver-gray ship turned its nose toward the west with San Diego Cal., as its next port of call.

When the ship cast off from this city it had successfully completed its first night at a strange mooring mast.

Lieut. Com. L. Hancock, the executive officer of the ship, "who was in charge of navigation from Lakehurst to Fort Worth, immediately before the ship departed estimated that the trip to El Paso would take approximately 14 to 16 hours, making the passage over that city some time after 10 p. m. Mountain time.

'SETTING POEMS TO MUSIC SATISFIED HUMAN LONGING'

Robert Alexander Bell Defends Proposition on Account of Which He Is Denied Use of Mails.

"My work of arranging music to song poems written by amateurs satisfied a human longing and performed a public service that far outweighs anything complainants may say against it."

Thus did Robert Alexander Bell reply today, in commenting upon the fraud order prohibiting use of the mails, issued yesterday by the Postmaster-General against the New Era Music Co., 3632 Olive street, of which Bell is founder and general manager.

Outlines His Proposition.
As outlined by Bell, his proposition was this: The ambitious writer of a potential song hit submitted his lyric, and for $32.50 the New Era Co. supplied the music and 250 printed copies with an ornate cover. Five dollars of the sum was paid when the lyric was submitted and the balance was paid in weekly payments. When the payments were completed the 250 copies of the song, with two-plate covers in colors, were delivered.

"I was trying to do something new," Bell explained today. "You know somewhere down in every human heart there is a desire to see the product of one's imagination in black and white. That was our service. We took the results of these people's thoughts and put them to music, and put the completed work in their hands. Think of the fun those folks and all their friends had standing around the piano and singing those songs. Of course, they never sold any of them, or at least never sold enough to make any money, but they won't the idea. Their songs were set in print just as nice as the biggest hit that ever arrived, and I contend that was a real service."

Bell said his company printed approximately 100,000 copies of two years he has operated. They were all "flops," he admits as far as having any sale value. "There was only one that we tried to remind in our store and I can't remember just what the result was," he added. "But then I have tried my hand at writing several myself, and they 'flop,' too."

Desire Not Limited.
Desire to set songs to music is not limited to any one class. "We have had them drive up to the door in limousines, and walk in in overalls," he said. "Some of the manuscripts showed they were written by photographers, unless your nose or something else is missing. The same way with the song poems. If they were not obscene and could possibly be set to music, they were set, and delivered when the $32.50 was paid."

Profits amounted to 25 per cent of the gross receipts, Bell said. "It took a lot of work to get started," he continued. "The first year I walked to work and sometimes missed a meal or two. It is just in the last year and a half that I made anything." Bell resides at 551 Melville avenue, University city.

When seen by a Post-Dispatch reporter was seated in a late model roadster parked in front of his apartment.

J. J. McNAMARA HELD ON CHARGE OF BLACKMAIL

Confessed Dynamiter of Los Angeles Times Building Arrested on Indictments at Indianapolis.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Oct. 9.—
John J. McNamara, confessed dynam-iter and ex-convict, now secretary and business agent of the Bridge and Structural Iron Workers' Union of this city, was indicted today by the Marion County grand jury on charge of blackmail.

McNamara, who served nine years of a 15-year sentence in the California State prison on his plea of guilty of aiding in the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times Building in 1910, was taken into custody 10 minutes after four indictments were returned in court.
His bond was fixed at $20,000.

Outcome of Labor Warfare.
The grand jury investigation followed a series of depositions to buildings on which nonunion iron workers were employed and alleged threats made by McNamara to the contractors, during a labor war that has lasted more than two years. Prosecutor William H.
Remy and his staff of investigators started their inquiry seven weeks ago.

The climax of the depositions was the destruction of the smokestack being built on Idaho's new war memorial building. This was threatened, according to William Kellmeyer, the builder, after he had refused to comply with the union demands and 10 days later
Aug. 8, it was destroyed.

Contractor Tells of Threats.
This followed the destruction of the iron doors in the new $1,000,- 000 Elks Club Building. William P. Junglaas, president of the construction firm, told the grand jury that McNamara and two other men had threatened to attack George Davis, superintendent of the building and destroy doors, if their demands were not complied with.

McNamara also is charged with threatening the destruction of the boilers in the same building, when Ben Staggendorf, installing the boilers, refused to employ nonunion workers in the moving of heavy steel beams and girders.

The fourth indictment charged McNamara with threatening William S. Frye, president of the Indianapolis Trucking Co., with attack, if he did not cease using truck drivers and use union iron workers in the moving of heavy
steel beams and girders.

When the girls screamed and several men ran to their aid. The negro dropped the girl's arm and started to flee, but was soon surrounded by him. He was struck down by a blow from a baseball bat and in a few minutes was trampled and kicked by the continually growing crowd.

After policemen arrived, the crowd refused to disperse until the squad charged and used their clubs.

Epstein Denies Charge.
Epstein told the police he had no connection with the crowd which was beating the negro when he ran out of his shop after hearing the disturbance. The two negroes questioned were positive in their assertions that he had struck the blow.

George Bell told the police that Epstein had made an unwelcome attack on his brother as they were passing his shop. He denied that they had met any girls or spoken to any. Clark said he saw men running out of the shop after he heard screams.

Police authorities today said that had been restored and no further rioting was anticipated.
In July, 1919, clashes between negroes and whites resulted in deaths of more than a score of persons.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The Washington Senators, facing heavy odds, and the New York Giants, confident in holding the whip hand, met this afternoon in the sixth game of the world's baseball championship series with Tom Zachary and Art Nehf, both lefthanders, pitching.

Three-quarters of an hour before game time the bleachers were practically filled, thousands were streaming into the grandstand and it was evident that the outpouring of Capitol City fandom would be limited only by the capacity of the park, about 37,000.

President Coolidge Attends.
President Coolidge, with Mrs.
Coolidge and their party, entered the flag-draped presidential box shortly before 2 o'clock. The spectators arose and the two teams lined up before the President while the band played "The Star-Spangled Banner."

The spectators' interest was introduced to Judge Landis and Managers McGraw and Harris. The visiting party was also introduced to Mrs. Coolidge, who complimented the two managers.

The spectators included many Government and diplomatic notables.
Gov. Pinchot of Pennsylvania occupied a box with his party.

Tribute to Jake Daubert.
Silent tribute was paid to the memory of Jake Daubert, veteran Cincinnati first baseman, who died this morning, when players of both teams gathered about the plate and the big crowd stood with bared heads for a minute.

It was announced that if Washington should win today's game, thus necessitating a seventh tomorrow, tickets for the deciding contest would be put on sale at the local club's offices an hour after the game and the offices kept open continuously until tomorrow at 10 a. m.

Despite two defeats in their three games at New York, the loss of Roger Peckinpaugh, star shortstop, and the setback yesterday of their twirling ace, Walter Johnson, the Senators were still in a fighting mood.

Victory today for the Giants, who hold a three to two edge, will clinch McGraw's fourth diamond crown; but a victory today by Washington will force the issue to the limit of seven games in a final struggle here tomorrow.

Cloudless skies, with a temperature just a little shy of warmth to make it ideal for players and spectators, was the weather setting in prospect at Washington this morning for the game.

MAN WHO WRECKED TRAIN IS HELD ON MURDER CHARGE

Negro Who Caused B. & O. Crash at Aviston, Ill., Admits Fourth Derailment Attempt.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
CARLYLE, Ill., Oct. 9.—A fourth attempt to wreck a train was admitted last night by George Cain, alias George Williams, negro, who was last night ordered held on a murder charge after an inquest at Aviston into the death of Engineer Carl F. Van Alkman, who was killed in the wreck of B. & O. flyer near Aviston Friday night.

Cain, who also admitted last night that Williams, which he given as his name, was an alias, the witness stand testified that besides wrecking the train Friday night he had attempted to wreck another train only three days before the Aviston wreck. The negro said that he saved a switch lock at Black Oak, Ind., and threw the lock away, intending to throw the switch. Someone was approaching, however, he said, and he fled without completing the attempt to wreck the next train.

Besides this attempt at a wreck, and the actual wreck at Aviston, Cain has admitted that he attempted to wreck trains in Indiana, once during July and once during September.

The grand jury of Clinton County met Nov. 10 and Cain's case will be among the first to be presented to the body for action.

which had been at the helm only a few months, was dismissed by the House of Commons with a vote of lack of confidence because of its refusal to protect the people.

The defeat of Baldwin was the culmination of laborite amendment to the reply to the King's speech from the throne. The amendment declared that it was the duty of the House "respectfully to submit to your Majesty that your Majesty's present advisers have not the confidence of the House."

The amendment was introduced by John R. Clymes, at present Lord Privy Seal, then deputy leader of the parliamentary body. It was adopted by a vote of 225 to 250 after Mr. MacDonald had moved closure on Jefferson avenue.

On June 22 Mr. MacDonald went to Buckingham Palace at the request of the King and accepted the task of forming the new government of which he became the head.

Thus Great Britain came under the domination of a Laborite Government which included members of the nobility in its makeup.

At the time of MacDonald's assumption of power at the request of King George it was realized that at any time by coalition of the Liberals and the Conservatives could overthrow him on a question of high importance, for the general elections of December 1922, the Conservatives had 259 and the Liberals 159 seats, while the Laborites had only 131.

The Veiled Prophet upon the forty-fifth recurrence of annual visit to St. Louis and its popularity not diminished found himself in no danger of being relegated as an outgrowth of our younger days, but on the contrary, his vogue increasing even as the city is growing and prospering, was evidenced by the well-attended crowd which overtaxed the Coliseum at the ball last night.

The evening was given over to the Prophet's reception this year and of one as heretofore. On Monday night his line of march led him to the Coliseum, where a mile and the crowds that gathered to witness his procession were denser than ever before. At last night's ball so eager to see the hosts of invited guests to the city's streets was extended a mile and the crowds that gathered to witness his procession were denser than ever before.

At the time of MacDonald's assumption of power at the request of King George it was realized that at any time by coalition of the Liberals and the Conservatives could overthrow him on a question of high importance, for the general elections of December 1922, the Conservatives had 259 and the Liberals 159 seats, while the Laborites had only 131.

ORCHID BOUQUET WITH 100 BUDS IS GIVEN V. P. QUEEN

Flowers Pronounced Priceless Presented by Missouri Botanical Garden.

A bouquet of orchids, containing 100 blossoms of 50 rare varieties, was presented to the queen of the Veiled Prophet at the Coliseum ball, last night, the gift of the Missouri Botanical Garden.

In the piece were orchids descended from specimens brought from Burma, the Moulmein region of the East Indies, Australia, Guatemala, Brazil and a rare importation last year from Columbia. The bouquet was pronounced priceless in that no such remarkable collection of this beautiful flower could be assembled anywhere except from the world famous collection of the Missouri Botanical Garden. Made up of commercial orchids, the bouquet would have cost about $2000.

The piece was designed by Joseph Witek, a florist, and had a background of lavender ostrich plumes and maiden hair fern and was tied with a large bow of lavender satin ribbon with long streamers. The flowers were cut at Shaw's garden by the director, Dr. George T. Moore.

carried an armful of yellow roses. About his brow she wore a sparkling diadem of brilliants, which was stunning enough to recompense her for the loss of the diadem which the Prophet crowned her a year ago.

The Entertainment Feature. With the feminine members of the court assembled the diversions of the night began. This year's entertainment feature was a series of lively dances by members of the Bolshoi Ballet Intime under the direction of Giuseppe Bonfiglio, ballet master of the Metropolitan Opera.

The premiere danseuse was Miss Ruth Page, though there were other solo dancers; the ensemble was recruited from local dancing schools.

In first number, Papillons, the ensemble were a group of glittering butterflies clothed entirely in spangles upon which many colored ribbons were placed to suggest the scintillation. The Russian dance was danced by a vision who looked like a snow crystal sparkling in the sun and a partner in a costume of barbaric brilliance.

Each masker was conducted by another committeeman and the procession as usual was led by Jacob Mahler, veteran dancing master, who has directed these ceremonies for the prophet all these 45 years. He has taught each succeeding queen and her attendants their proper courtesies, many of them the first dance steps when they were children. A ceremony which took place in the queen's boudoir last night, was the presentation to Mr. Mahler by the prophet of a momentary long hair.

Next, preceded by a parade and brief but trying military drill by the guard of honor, a group of darkly masked soldiers, whose helmets were luminous and sparkling, but whose unaccustomed boots were a trifle heavy, the prophet himself, announced by his two high priests, his almoners, his heralds and his master of the crown jewels, appeared.

From the midst of these dark-voiced, solemn personages he burst forth in a white, sparkling with jewels from head to foot, and trailing his long purple train, held up, not by the conventional boy pages as of yore, but by bare-knibed, brown-skinned slave maid.

Seated upon his throne and gazing about him, what must a real and not a make-believe prophet have thought of the spectacle before him?

Festival Well Intrenched. It must have struck him how distinctive and unique among civil and social festivities the annual harvest festival has become—vast, so brilliant and so well intrenched in the hearts and in the most respectful allegiance of the people. It still is a social distinction to be in the Prophet's train.

Only when the name of Fred W. Hart was mentioned did the professor make the slightest show of emotion. Then his clear eyes behind his rimless glasses seemed to smolder with feeling, and the fact that he never mentioned Hart by name showed his feelings.

"He Was My Last Friend." "He was my best friend when our two families lived as neighbors in Cincinnati," Dr. Hall-Quest continued. "His wife and I had no idea what was going on behind our backs until we were told by others, and no one was more surprised than myself. Just the anguish Mrs. Hart might have gone through if this affair had become public held me back from summary action. I have no doubt that it would have killed her—an innocent victim of an insane love."

"No," he replied. "Nor is my conduct toward this man the result of my own primitive feelings. What was the use of attempting some violent action when it would have done such injury to my wife and his wife. Sixteen years of life has made me suppress many of the impulses I might have had in connection with him."

"She Loved Dispute." "I can understand my wife's actions perfectly. I don't doubt that she really loved him, but she was brilliant, loved society, and the attendant luxuries that wealth can bring and that I, as a professional man, did not possess. This man was wealthy, his fitness will not be brought by anything he does personally and that explains her actions."

"My wife had no housekeeping responsibilities in Cincinnati. I had no household work as we had a cook and other servants, but she wanted more. And this man had it to offer."

"My professional work did not allow me to spend most of my time in social duties and that it was my wife wanted. When I saw what was coming I did all I could to prevent any scandal harming Mrs. Hart or my wife. Now that my efforts have been fruitless, I can do no more."

Dr. Hall-Quest was asked if he would take his wife back if she would leave Hart, but he said he would not answer this question now.

Lived as "Mr. and Mrs. William Hart" in Evanston. By the Associated Press. CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—The divorce granted here yesterday to Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest, head of the Extension Department of the University of Pittsburgh, from Mrs. Shirley Hall-Quest, today revealed a strange romance wherein a deserted husband and an abandoned wife have sued for divorce in order that their erasing names may marry each other.

Both Mrs. Hall-Quest and the man for whose love she left her husband a year ago in Cincinnati to come to Chicago to live as man and wife, had disappeared today.

Friends professed to be without knowledge of the two who had been living in Evanston as Mr. and Mrs. William Hart, but expressed the opinion that they have gone into hiding until next week when the suit for divorce brought by the wife of the man with whom Mrs. Hall-Quest became infatuated will be heard in Cincinnati.

Until the fact was made known that "the other man in the case" whose name Dr. Hall-Quest made every effort to hide in the divorce proceedings here, was also married and the target of a divorce suit, it has been presumed the couple had run away to be married. The suit for divorce filed in Cincinnati is by Mrs. Rosamund Hart against Frederick William Hart, an accountant.

PROFESSOR TELLS WHY HE GAVE UP WIFE TO ANOTHER

"She Loved Society and Luxuries That Wealth Can Give," Dr. Hall-Quest Says.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 9.—"After sixteen years of happy married life, I allowed my wife to join the other man without trouble because I thought her sixteen years of happiness was more than mine living, you know, and in those sixteen years I learned much—much of heartaches, much of joy, and greatest of all to suppress primitive emotions."

Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest, thus told today of the divorce from the woman who left him to join another.

Seated in his office at the University of Pittsburgh, Dr. Hall-Quest spoke in measured, albeit kindly tones of his wife.

Only when the name of Fred W. Hart was mentioned did the professor make the slightest show of emotion. Then his clear eyes behind his rimless glasses seemed to smolder with feeling, and the fact that he never mentioned Hart by name showed his feelings.

SON BELIEVES HIS FATHER WAS MURDER VICTIM

Homicide Bureau Inquiring Into Death of Man Found Unconscious With Fractured Skull.

The Homicide Bureau is investigating the death of Joseph J. Bligh, 60 years old, an ironworker, of 1834 Helen street, who was found unconscious at 4 a. m. yesterday at Fourth and Walnut streets, suffering with skull fracture. He died at 1 p. m.

Police assumed that the injury was caused by a fall until last night, when his son, John P. Bligh, appeared at Carr Street Station and expressed the belief that his father was murdered.

The son told of a man, known as "Hart," who he said had been here to remark that Bligh was hit on the back of the head with a monkey wrench by a lame shoeing peddler. "Hart" was arrested, but denied he had said anything of Bligh's death. The coroner's inquest was continued until tomorrow so the Homicide Bureau might complete its investigation.

ASSESSED VALUATIONS OF UTILITIES UP $8,509,802

State Board of Equalization Increases All Except Those of Telephone Concerns.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 9.—The State Board of Equalization yesterday announced the assessed valuations fixed for steam railroads, street railways, bridge companies, telephone and telegraph companies for 1924 totaling $38,982,762. This is an increase of $8,509,802 over the assessed valuations fixed for utilities for 1923.

In most instances the Board of Equalization followed the recommendation of the State Tax Commission, but made various reductions totaling $2,955,076 from the commission's recommendation of $32,027,686. The largest cut was approximately $700,000 from the commission's recommendation for the Kansas City telephone company. No change was made in the commission's recommendation of $46,775,644 for the United Railways Co. of St. Louis, and $17,510,951 for the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. Minor reductions were made for several railroad companies and telephone exchanges.

The total assessed valuations of the utilities by classifications were steam roads, $278,009,894, increase of $6,004,834 over 1923; street railways $67,476,876, increase of $1,507,282; bridges $7,959,087, an increase of $89,123; telephone companies, $31,288,277, increase of $1,142,634; telegraph companies, $6,148,718, decrease of $234,781.

NORWEGIAN OIL EXPERT WARNS AGAINST STRIKE

Company at Christiania, After Rich Finds, Are Reported, Sells Shares

Special to the Post-Dispatch. CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—A company has been started in connection with rich finds of oil close to Christiania. Its shares, which have not yet been quoted, have sold already at 100 per cent above par.

A Norwegian geologist expert issued a warning today that there is no oil here and that the natural structure of the soil forbids mineral formation. The company replied that it is collaborating with a German expert who has a specially constructed apparatus which registered oil at 4000 meters depth (13,123 feet), and that the first diggings already have taken place, giving hope that it will be found equal to that of the Rumanian fields.

Railroad Station Burned. Special to the Post-Dispatch. POPULAR BLUFF, Mo., Oct. 9.—The joint station of the Missouri-Pacific and Frisco Railroads at Hoxie, Ark. was destroyed by fire at 7:15 a. m. today. The loss is $25,000. The fire started in the restaurant in the station through the use of gasoline by mistake for kerosene in cooking.

Several letters to him from his wife in which the name of the corespondent was deleted are in the records, it was announced today. He says in the letters that she will renounce everything for the man she loves.

Mrs. Hall-Quest at Home of Her Sister in Minneapolis. Special to the Post-Dispatch. MINNEAPOLIS, Minn., Oct. 9.—Mrs. Shirley Iva Knox Hall-Quest, divorced wife of Dr. Alfred Lawrence Hall-Quest of Pittsburgh, United States, was found here today at the home of her mother, Mrs. M. W. Knox, who told newspaper men that she and the family stood back of her daughter.

Her daughter had written me all about her divorce, but we didn't expect all this publicity to result," said Mrs. Knox. "Mr. Hart also has written me that they will be married as soon as his wife gets a divorce."

Mrs. Hall-Quest was married to Dr. Hall-Quest at Redwood Falls, Minn., 16 years ago.

Jewel Motif Is Carried Out In Gowns of the Queen and Her Four Special Maids

Silver Cloth, With Rhinestone Sunbursts, Worn by Miss Collins—Attendants Represent Sapphire, Emerald, Topaz and Ruby.

Spirituelle might best describe the 1924 Queen of the Veiled Prophet's Court of Love and Beauty. "It's Mary Virginia Collins!" cried many voices in glad surprise or satisfaction as the new first lady of the court entered for her progress to the throne, under the rays of a huge spotlight. "A queenly daughter of a queenly mother," echoed others, with thoughts of Mrs. Mary Thomson Collins.

Miss Collins wears her wavy light hair parted simply in the center and caught low at the back; her blue eyes sparkle with merriment on occasion, and a creamy complexion lightens to pink with excitement. Unlike last year's Queen, she isn't the least bit athletic; rather, she is the old-fashioned girl, fond of music and poetry, and best of all, possessed of a distinct complex domesticity; she is an expert needlewoman.

Popularity of this tall, willowy, girlish Queen, who graced the throne with the assurance of a real consort, was undiminished by the fact that her name had been rumored persistently for weeks as His Majesty's choice.

In her dressing room, the writer was impressed by her poise, yet her absolute lack of affectation, her loveliness, and her consideration for those around her. Girlish in expressing her enthusiasm at the honor bestowed upon her, a wistful note crept into her voice as she said, "It's so sweet that everyone thinks my being chosen is in memory—they loved Daddy so." Miss Collins' father, the late Charles Cummings Collins, died two years ago.

Description of Gown. But—on to her gown, the subject of interest to women. It was fashioned of silver cloth, its bodice wrought with rhinestones, sprigged with sunbursts, and grannited with handings of the same stones, which formed the shoulder straps and fell below the hem line at the back, giving a panel effect. The skirt fairly glittered with rhinestones, which hung in long fringe from the lowered waist line, and detracted considerably from Miss Collins' height. (She is 5 feet 9 inches tall, and the tallest of all the Queens.)

Triangular motifs of rhinestones held the fringe in place, while peeping from beneath it at the hem were silver-tissue roses. Billowy silver tissue formed an under-dress, while over this, a distinctive feature of the gown, was the main train of cloth of silver, it depended from each shoulder in a draped effect which has become so popular in the past two or three years, and was broadly edged with rhinestone bandings, and had for decoration a design of peacock feathers, their quills of rhinestones, and the feathers themselves of heavy green and blue silk thread. The armful of superb orchids she carried completed the picture as no other flower would, blending with her blond beauty, yet presenting a contrast just marked enough to be becoming.

The Veiled Prophet's festival this year might appropriately be called the Jewell Ball, for the gowns of the Queen and her four special maids of honor were in keeping with His Majesty's idea in having floats in his parade represent precious stones. This time the gorgeous velvet trains of these four maids were chosen in shades corresponding to the jewel which each was supposed to represent.

Miss Elizabeth Bemis, the first special maid, was the sapphire, and the color was well chosen, for her hair and large eyes are dark brown. Silver cloth was the material chosen for her gown, too, as for each of the special maids with the exception of Miss Marjorie Little. It was overlaid with silver lace in a leaf design, sewn with sapphires. The lace was cut into panels for the overskirt, and each was edged with silver fringe.

gorgeous sapphire blue train completed the costume, and this, in turn, was embroidered in sapphire brilliant and aquamarine, sprinkled with rhinestones. She and Miss Isabelle Robert carried ivory tinted roses, the color of the ribbons which tied them corresponding to their gowns. She was crowned with the throne by Wallace Capen.

Miss Little, the second maid of honor, who immediately preceded Miss Bemis on the arm of L. Guy Blackmer, wore a lovely white gown, quite different from any of the others. Her jewels were emeralds. High on her arms she wore superb emerald and diamond bracelets, and the same stones glistened from her shoulders and ended far down her train with crystal tassels. Her flowers were premier roses tied with green ribbon. The gown itself was white chiffon encrusted with dull white sequins combined with rhinestones in a rose design. The back was paneled and caught at the waist with a half girdle of pearls some two inches wide. Her train was emerald velvet, silver-lined, and sprayed with rhinestones.

Miss Robert's gown, is still a school girl, and will return almost immediately to Wellesley College. Dr. John R. Caulk offered her the only one of the four special maids who is not a debutante. She wore silver lace over silver cloth. With the straight back as a characteristic, the front showed a long-waisted bodice, relieved by two circular flounces of silver lace richly embroidered in topazes. A more pronounced color note was given by two rows of deep yellow flowers, one beneath each flounce. Her train was of topaz velvet, sewn with lighter-colored topaz brilliants in an unusual design, and was held at the shoulders with straps of the same glittering gems. She was escorted by Harrison Hobbitzelle.

Miss Jane Hamilton Whitehead, the fourth maid, represented the ruby. Her gown, a trifle more formal than the others, was of red velvet, with a half girdle of pearls, and a long train of silver lace in straight lines, over cloth of silver. The overdress was interspersed with vertical rhinestone bands, while the central and side panels were embroidered in rubies. Cascades of silver lace at each side gave a girlish line to the skirt, and these were held at the waist with arabesques of rhinestones. Her train was of ruby velvet, embroidered in rubies and diamonds ending near the hem with a large ocknowt. She, too, carried premier roses, tied with ribbon to match her train. Dr. John R. Caulk offered her his arm as she started toward the throne.

Miss Grace Whitelaw Wallace, the retiring queen, wore a gown that was a marvel. It was almost diaphanous, of chiffon shading from a lemon yellow at the bodice to a deep orange at its scalloped hem. Crystals were its chief adornment, and these were striped down to a rather full-edged skirt where they graduated into an elaborate design. Her train, draped to her shoulders with ostrich tips, and edged with clusters of the same plumes, was of the same material, shading from left to right. Her stockings and slippers were of cloth of gold, the latter mounted with heavy rhinestone buckles. She carried yellow roses to match her gown, combined with deeper-toned shades, the whole being tied with broad bands of yellow ribbon.

Remarkable Values

THIS event is one of signal importance to all St. Louis women, presenting to them millinery inspired by Paris, at a price that urges anticipation of every Winter millinery need. Here are rainbow felts, felts broadly brimmed, velvet flares and sweeping satins, hatters' plush, shimmering metal laces, fabrics, in fascinating combination. And the trimmings imbue them with ultra chic—

Glycerined Ostrich Tinted Aigrettes Ribbon
Fur Silver and Gold Tissues Lace
Appliqued and Painted Effects Glycerined Peacock

Models from Lichtenstein and from Bruck Weiss—many others, retaining the labels of Parisian makers—add interest to the showing, which includes street Hats, sport Hats, dance Hats, dressy affairs—each one exquisitely fashioned, and fresh from its tissue wrappings.

BEQUESTS TO CHARITY UPHOLD BY DECISION

Judge Decides Heirs of Mrs. McChesney Should Share Equally.

Circuit Judge Frey, construing the will of Mrs. Blanche L. McChesney, who died Feb. 21, 1923, ruled today that the residue of her $135,000 estate, approximately $60,000, shall be divided in 15 equal parts among the individuals and charities mentioned in specific bequests.

In her will Mrs. McChesney made specific bequests totaling $75,000 and then provided that the residue be divided "among the above heirs." The St. Louis Union Trust Co., as executor, sued to establish whether this meant all of the beneficiaries or only the blood relatives, Herbert D. Little and Harry M. McChesney, half-brothers; Anna and Marie Chandler, cousins, and Mrs. Ruth Palmer, a half-sister, to whom were specifically bequeathed $5000 each.

Judge Frey, in defining the word "heirs," explained that it is frequently used as meaning legatees or beneficiaries, and ruled that all should share alike. Mrs. Mattie C. McMillan, who was bequeathed articles of jewelry, as well as $5000 to be distributed to the poor, will receive a fifteenth part as an individual and a fifteenth part as trustee of the poor fund.

Others who will share are Sallie H. McCormick, to whom was specifically bequeathed $10,000; the First Church of Christ, Scientist, $15,000; St. Louis Children's Hospital and the Home of the Friendless, $10,000 each; Miss Nance Brengle, Miss Frances Collins and Walter F. Cole, who were bequeathed articles of jewelry, and Elizabeth M. Bradford, who was cut off with $1.

Mrs. McChesney, who was the widow of H. M. McChesney, resided at 5522 Waterman avenue.

WOMAN FOUND IN PARK CARRYING BODY OF BABY

Child Apparently Died at Birth, Physicians Say—She Is Unable to Make Statement.

A woman giving her name as Mrs. Julia Petrolock, 24 years old, of 1712 Dolman street, was found wandering in Lafayette Park by a watchman at 7 o'clock last night carrying the body of a baby boy. The watchman called an ambulance and the woman was taken to city hospital. Physicians said the baby, born several hours previously, had apparently died at birth.

Mrs. Petrolock is in a serious condition at the hospital, and was unable to make a statement today. According to police she recently came to St. Louis from Germany and made her home with a sister at the Dolman street address.

No Corns this new way

UNTIL modern science found a safe way, paring was the only way to end corns, and paring a corn yourself is dangerous. Then a noted scientist discovered Blue-jay. Now a world-famed laboratory makes it. It stops all pain instantly. Then the corn loosens and comes out. Millions use it—different from any other corn remedy. Try it tonight, walk in new comfort tomorrow.

A new Victor product! The Music Arts Library of Victor Records. The first volume comprises five new double-faced Victor Red Seal Records. Three contain Schubert's "Unfinished Symphony" by Stokowski and the Philadelphia Orchestra, two the Schumann Quintette by Gabrilowitsch and the Flonzaley Quartet. The records are grouped in an attractive album with illustrations and facts about the music, composers and artists. This combination in one book will broaden every music-lover's enjoyment of these new Victor products. To assure such added enjoyment the finest efforts of the Victor Company and its artists have been put into the recording of these two famous compositions, and the issuing of them in this new form.

Victrola No. 100 $150 Mahogany, oak or walnut

Victrola No. 350 Mahogany, $235; electric, $275

Victrola No. 210 $110 Mahogany, oak or walnut

2nd Movement—Part 3

The Philadelphia Orchestra under Leopold Stokowski here presents a contribution of the highest beauty and importance to the permanent music of the world—the immortal Unfinished Symphony of Franz Schubert. Three records are necessary to give it in full. It is a masterpiece of music, and a masterpiece of recording.

You, Too, Can Look Slender

By Shirley Deane

Very often when we admire "stunning figures" in larger women, we are ignorant of the conscious effort that has made possible their well-proportioned lines. The story of the well-dressed larger woman is nearly always the same. She selects her wardrobe from garments particularly designed to slenderize.

Dresses for Larger Women

—are shown in such an infinite variety of styles and fabrics that it is very easy to make choice here of Frocks for any occasion. Sizes up to 54 are moderately priced.

Fur-Trimmed Coats

Serve for Utility and for Dress Wear

With the fast approach of Winter, the first thought is for a Coat that will give service day in, day-out, that will be good looking and individual in its appearance, that will maintain its smartness under constant usage, and that can fill the bill, if need be, as a suitable wrap for formal evening affairs.

This is a good deal to ask of one garment. But the strenuous demands of the times require that a Winter Coat perform a multiplicity of services. It is with manifold requirements in mind that we have selected Coats of fabrics that are rich and yet durable; that are extremely new in interpreting the mode, and yet sufficiently conservative to not grow tiresome. The trimmings, too, are chosen as much for serviceability as for beauty. All sizes including extra sizes up to 54.
(Coat Shop—Third Floor.)

New Fur Coats and Jaquettes

Many Are Especially Designed for Misses

There was a time when handsome Fur Coats were considered almost in the light of luxurious self-indulgence. Today the great popularity of Furs has made it possible for manufacturers to produce garments of exceptional quality at prices that put them in the class of an economy.

$149.50

The Coats in this group are substantially made, and the latest novelty effects are carried out in the matching of pelts. The furs include the finest grades of natural muskrat, silver muskrat and Northern seal (dyed coney), fashioned in striking combination with other furs, or smartly self-sufficient.

OUR 10th GREAT HARVEST SALE

A Great $500,000 Stock of Ready-to-Wear Awaits You

Sale of Two New Beautiful Fabrics Sponsored by Paris

The fashion creators of Paris, with the wide world of fabrics at their finger tips, this season have given unqualified endorsement to the new and luxurious "broadtail" effects for cloaks, wraps and ensemble suits. Authoritative interpretations of the season's styles are now presented to you by NUGENTS through special arrangement with the makers who created these beautiful fabrics in their own French mills.

"MEDORA"

The silky-soft hair of the kid-angora gives this fabric its lustrous, easily draping, luxurious quality. Not only is "MEDORA" handsome, but it develops garments made of it in a most practical way through its remarkable wearability. The beautiful broadtail effect embodied in the material, reflects light and shadow with ever-interesting scintillation.

"BOKARA"

This is a heavier weight fabric, with the embodied broadtail effect, combining the height of style, warmth, comfort and durability in garments which will astonish you with their moderate prices.
To own either a MEDORA or a BOKARA garment from this offering will place you a season ahead in the coming styles.

SAVED BY HIS STUTTERING AND HIS SISTER'S MUMPS

Stoke Gilkye Freed of Robbery at Second Trial of Case on Two Points in the Testimony.

The stuttering of Stoke Gilkye, and his sister's mumps, were introduced as evidence in his trial for high robbery yesterday and won him a verdict of not guilty before a jury in Circuit Judge Taylor's Court.

Gilkye, who is 19, and lives at 2238 Dodder street, was identified by Baker H. Perry of 4366 West Pine boulevard as a robber who took $3 and a watch from him Feb. 11, last.

After establishing that Perry noticed no impediment in the robber's speech, the defense produced two jail guards, who testified that Gilkye stuttered throughout his imprisonment, and relatives who said he had a permanent impediment and spent the night in question nursing a sister who was suffering with mumps.

The defendant did not take the stand and was acquitted after brief deliberation. Last May he was convicted in the case and sentenced to five years, but a new trial was granted because of an error. He has no previous criminal record.

Thousands of Cars of Ozark Apples By the Associated Press. SPRINGFIELD, Mo., Oct. 9.—Approximately 3500 cars of apples will have been shipped out of the Ozarks by the Frisco Railroad alone before the late apple crop is all marketed this fall. The record for a single day's shipment was broken here the other day when 75 carloads went out in 24 hours the apples being both loaded and billed out in a day. More than 1000 carloads have gone out and the late apple shipment has only begun, railroad officials say. Many Northern Arkansas points, too, are making heavy shipments of apples.

IF KIDNEYS ACT
BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water.

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys in their effort to filter it from the blood, and they become sort of paralyzed and laggy. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sours, tongue is coated, and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges.

Either consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then set fine. This famous salt is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice, combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, cannot injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water. By all means have your physician examine your kidneys at least twice a year.

For Itching Torture

Use Antiseptic Liquid Zemo

There is one remedy that seldom fails to stop itching torture and relieve skin irritation and that makes the skin soft, clear and healthy.

Any drugist can supply you with Zemo, which generally overcomes skin diseases. Eczema, Itch, Pimples, Rash, Blackheads, in most cases quickly give way to Zemo. Frequently minor skin diseases disappear overnight. Itching usually stops instantly. Zemo is a safe, antiseptic liquid that may be applied at any time, for it does not show. Trial bottle 35c, large size $1.00. Zemo Soap, 50c. All drug stores.

SWINDLER RUNS STORE
BOUGHT ON BAD CHECK

Escapes With Proceeds of Two Days' Lively Trade at Confectionery.

A new form of swindle in which a confidence man set himself up in business for two days and escaped with the proceeds from a lively trade at the expense of his victim's stock was reported to the police yesterday by George A. Davis, proprietor of a confectionery store at 5638 Theodosia avenue.

Davis was busy waiting on customers at 2 p. m. Saturday, he told the police, when a man about 35 years old entered, looked the place over and remarked, "I understand you want to sell."

Davis said yes, he had been considering such a move.

"Well, I'll tell you what I'll do," the stranger said. "I'll just stay around awhile and see what kind of business you are doing."

That was agreeable to Davis and he provided the visitor with a chair and proceeded to demonstrate the briskness of his trade.

By 4 p. m., Davis related, the stranger had become enthusiastic. "Say, man, you have got a good stand here," he exclaimed. "I think I'll buy it. How much do you want?" Davis said $445 and the man wrote a check for that amount, signing it "R. L. Jones."

Davis immediately turned the place over to him.

For the rest of the day the newcomer did a rushing business. Sunday it was the same. On Monday morning, however, Davis noticed the place wasn't open. When Tuesday came and the store was still closed, he thought of his $445 check and hurried to the bank. He found it worthless. Back at the store he found most of his stock had been sold and the proceeds missing. He was unable to estimate the amount of his loss.

KNIFE SOUGHT IN INQUIRY INTO DOUBLE MURDER FOUND

E. E. Tedrick of Alton, Witness Who Might Identify It, Not Now at Hand.

After Peter Aiello and Dorothy Kite of Alton were murdered and thrown out on a roadside near Edwardsville, the night of June 11 last, the woman's throat being cut, it was learned that a long-bladed knife was missing from an Alton saloon.

Now the Madison County authorities have obtained possession of a long-bladed knife, said to have been found near the scene of the murder. But the witness who might identify the knife, as the one missing from the saloon, is not at hand. The authorities are looking for this witness, E. E. Tedrick.

of Alton. Joseph Marino of Alton is now under indictment in connection with the murder, and is in the Edwardsville jail. Three others, also indicted, have not been found.

Four Children Burned to Death. WENATCHEE, Wash., Oct. 2.—Four children were burned to death yesterday and three others escaped in two fires at Oroville, according to word received here.

Floor-Covering Sale of the Year

Congoleum Rugs at Bargain Prices

There's still time for you to get genuine Congoleum Gold-Seal Art-Rugs, By-the-Yard and Rug-Border at bargain prices. But this wonderful opportunity to save money on warm-colored, trouble-saving floor-covering lasts only until Saturday, October 11th. After that date prices will go back to their regular levels.

All the newest Congoleum Rug patterns are included in this Sale—a wonderful selection of designs to brighten and beautify every room in your home. It is all clean, fresh, guaranteed Congoleum, the floor-covering whose durability and ease-of-cleaning are lightening the housework of women everywhere.

Waterproof and Sanitary: Made all in one piece of a durable waterproof material with a seamless, smooth surface, Gold-Seal Congoleum Art-Rugs are positively sanitary and wonderfully wear-resisting.

Artistic Designs: The patterns are the creations of famous rug-designers. Their beauty is unrivalled in popular-priced floor-coverings. And their wide variety includes patterns suitable for any room—dining and living rooms, bedrooms, kitchen, pantry and bath.

Easy-to-Clean: A light mopping makes Congoleum spotlessly clean—in an instant—the colors bright and gleaming like new. No tiresome sweeping or beating as with old-fashioned woven floor-coverings.

Needs No Fastening: Congoleum lies perfectly flat without any fastening—it never "kicks up" at the edges.

Congoleum By-the-Yard: For those who desire the entire floor space covered, there are many tasteful unbordered patterns in guaranteed Congoleum By-the-Yard. It is exactly the same durable, waterproof, flat-lying material as Congoleum Rugs.

Congoleum Rug-Border: If it is desired to cover the floor space between a large center rug and the walls, there is Congoleum Rug-Border in a number of realistic reproductions of hardwood.

Satisfaction Guaranteed: Every Congoleum Rug, every length of Congoleum By-the-Yard and Rug-Border offered in this Sale carries the Gold Seal pledge that reads, "Satisfaction Guaranteed or Your Money Back." Don't fail to look for it when you buy.

Only a Few More Days: Remember Congoleum Week ends next Saturday night. Not for a long time, perhaps never, will guaranteed Gold-Seal Congoleum be offered at the low prices listed below. Don't delay. This is a money-saving opportunity too good to miss.

ORDINANCE TO FIX BUILDING HEIGHT UNDER DISCUSSION

150 Feet, or 12 Stories
Straight Up, With Set-backs for Upper Levels
Suggested as Basis.

TO DISCUSS PLAN WITH ARCHITECTS

City Plan Commission
Engineer Agrees to Draw Up Measure if It Meets With Approval.

Suggestions for an ordinance regulating the height of business buildings, with set-backs for upper levels—150 feet or 12 stories, straight up, and set-backs above that point at the ratio of one foot back to every three feet up—were made to the Legislative Committee of the Board of Aldermen by the City Plan Commission yesterday.

The set-back system, the purpose of which is to avoid cutting off light and air from neighboring structures, would be similar to that used in New York, though a scheme as intricate as that of New York is not proposed.

The St. Louis zoning ordinance, which the Supreme Court of Missouri held invalid, fixed a limit of 150 feet for buildings. When it was knocked out the old height ordinance was reinvented, its limit being 250 feet for a building taking a whole city block. Some months ago the Southwestern Bell Telephone Co. sought permission to erect a 304-foot structure, with set-backs, on the block bounded by Tenth, Eleventh, Pine and Chestnut streets. A special ordinance was passed to allow erection of this building and a few days ago the permit was issued. The telephone building will have 25 stories.

Commission Draws Up Plan. Harold Bartholomew, engineer of the City Plan Commission, who prepared the suggestions, agreed at the request of Chairman Brod of the aldermanic committee to discuss the proposal with St. Louis architects and builders and, if they approve, draw up a formal ordinance. Explaining his scheme, Bartholomew said there were three factors to be considered, as follows:

1. That a height limit so unreasonable as to turn away capital from the city be avoided.
2. That proper provision be made for light and air for proposed structures and existing property.
3. Street congestion, a problem which is being increased in cities by construction of large downtown buildings.

Average height of buildings in congested districts in St. Louis is a little less than four stories, Bartholomew stated, yet the city has found it necessary to provide for street openings and widenings to cost several million dollars, to relieve the congestion. The point is that a big building augments the traffic problem by its mass of workers and the vehicular movement incident to its business.

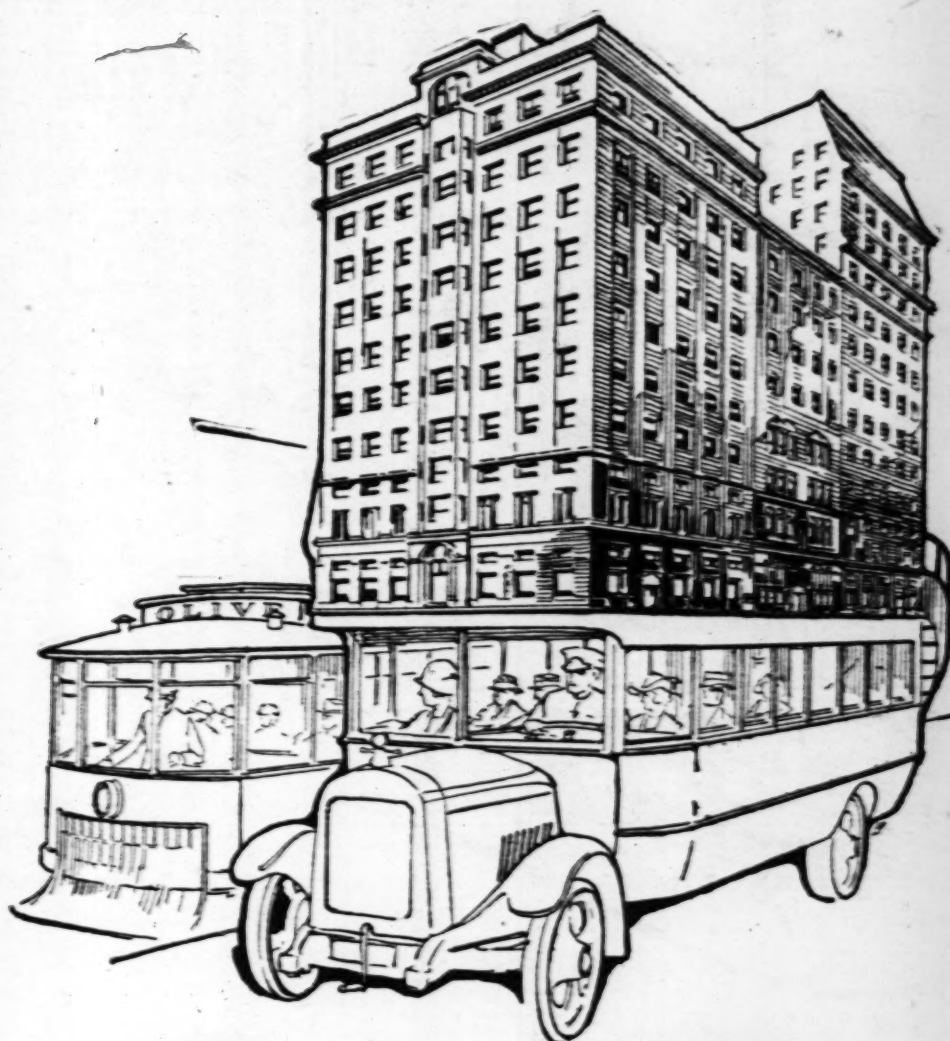

It was, therefore, considered in drawing up the set-back suggestions that a building rising straight up to 150 feet would be all the traffic would bear, but that a higher building, with set-backs, would be all right if its floor area or cubical contents did not exceed that of the lower structure.

Explains Suggestions. Regulation of building size tends to spread business districts out and reduce congestion, the city planning engineer said. He pointed out that the 21-story, 250-foot Railway Exchange Building, which goes straight up, has the equivalent floor area of an 18.9-story "solid" building because of its inner court and that the 13-story City Club Building has the equivalent floor area of 12 stories for the same reason.

The proposed ordinance would not permit of a building corresponding to the projected Bell Telephone Building, the 28 floors of which will have the equivalent area of 18 "solid" floors. E. J. Russell, chairman of the City Plan Commission and member of the architectural firm designing the telephone building, has pointed out that the setback feature there would give a smaller floor area than that of a 250-foot "solid" building which the existing ordinance would allow.

WOMAN TAKES POISON; DIES

Miss Vivian Melser, 23 years old, a telephone operator, died at city hospital at 7:30 o'clock last night from the effects of poison, which she drank about an hour earlier at her home, 2135 Halliday avenue. Miss Melser was found by her sister, Bernice, on her bed with the poison bottle beside her. According to members of the family she had been in ill health for five years and had recently become dependent.

The OmniBank

A Big National Bank—as near as your nearest street car or bus line

CITY-WIDE transportation facilities really bring this large, strong bank to you. It seems as if most everything in town "loops" around Commerce, the big national "Omni-Bank" that serves ALL with ALL services.

With street car lines too numerous to mention...and all bus lines...either passing by or within a short block or two...Olive, Broadway, Pine...the heart of the money district is one of the easiest places in town to reach. You're dropping by it all the time.

Your account with Commerce—whether for savings or current checking—is protected, too, by capital ratio for each dollar of deposit that is as large as that of any national banking institution west of the Mississippi...or larger.

This complete, ably-directed, centrally-located bank—serving about one out of every tenth person in St. Louis—invites you to use its facilities for safety and convenience...and to share in its progress and prestige. Come in when you're "looping" down town.

CASCARETS 10¢

For Constipated Bowels, Sick Headache, Colds, Sour Stomach, Biliousness

To clean your bowels without cramping or overacting, take Cascarets!

You want to feel fine; to be quickly free from sick headache, dizziness, biliousness, colds, bad breath, a sour, acid, gassy stomach. One or two Cascarets, anytime, will start the bowels acting. When taken at night, the bowels work wonderfully in morning.

Cascarets never sicken or inconvenience you next day like pills, calomel, salts or oil. Children love Cascarets, too. 10-cent boxes, also 25 and 50 cent sizes. Any drug store.

ADVERTISMENT

FINE FOR OLD FOLKS!

Take Haley's Magnesia-Oil—milk of magnesia and mineral oil combined.

When Nature relaxes her vigilance and permits the bowels to become clogged with accumulating waste matter, a tablespoonful of Haley's Magnesia-Oil, once or twice a day, will restore the bowels to their normal activity.

A perfect combination of milk of magnesia and pure mineral oil, Haley's Magnesia-Oil provides at one time an efficient antacid for disordered stomach, and a most natural lubricant for the bowels.

The mineral-oil carries the milk of magnesia straight to the lower bowel, where it is most required. It is harmless, causes no griping or nausea, and has only the palatable taste of magnesia which is lost entirely when it is mixed with milk.

Buy a bottle of Haley's Magnesia-Oil today and keep it always on hand. If your druggist can't supply you we will mail postpaid on receipt of price. Trial size, 25¢. Family size, $1.

Says His Prescription Has Powerful Influence Over Rheumatism

Mr. James H. Allen of 28 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work. He finally decided, after years of countless visits to doctors, that he would try the treatment which he had read of in the newspaper. He called it the "Milk of Magnesia" and he was cured. He has since been able to do his work and is now a healthy man.

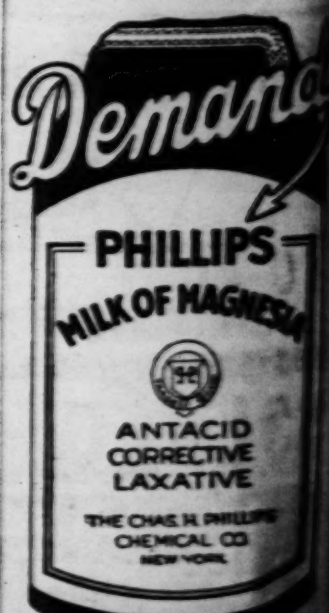

He freely gave his discovery, which he called "Milk of Magnesia," to the world. After years of writing he decided to let everyone know about his discovery through the newspaper. He has therefore instructed druggists everywhere that if the first trial bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without cost.

'STREET CLEANING COST IN CHICAGO HALF THAT HERE'

"Mind Your Business," Cites Comparative Figures in an Open Letter to Mayor Kiel.

DIFFERENCE SAID TO TOTAL $353,000

Motorized Flushers Used in Illinois City, Horse-Drawn Ones in St. Louis, It Is Pointed Out.

"If streets in St. Louis had been cleaned for the same cost per thousand square yards as in Chicago the total cost during (the fiscal year) 1923-24 would have been approximately $346,000, instead of $699,000, resulting in a saving of about $353,000."

This declaration was made in an open letter to Mayor Kiel in this week's issue of "Mind Your Business," organ of the Bureau of Municipal Research.

Average cost of street cleaning in Chicago in 1923 was about 74 cents per thousand square yards, the letter stated, while the cost in St. Louis for the last fiscal year was about $1.50.

Cleaning Methods Cited.
Pointing out that "street sanitation officials generally agree" that street cleaning by flushing with water, removing heavy and fine dirt, is the most thorough and sanitary method, the letter states that flushing is one of six methods employed here. Horse-drawn flushers, with teams and drivers, are hired under a three-year contract for $12.50 per eight-hour day per machine, with provision that the flushers will become the city's property when the contract expires next April.

Cost of flushing refuse to the gutters with this equipment in the last fiscal year, allowing for an allocation representing cost of the machines, averaged about 53 cents per thousand square yards, the letter declared, comparing this with a Chicago cost of less than nine cents. Chicago flushers are motorized.

"There are no physical and economic reasons which should cause the cost of street cleaning in St. Louis to be higher than that in Chicago," the Bureau of Municipal Research declared. "On Sept. 3 we stated to the Director of Streets and Sewers that more than half of the total cost of cleaning streets could be saved. He stated that opinion, yet he has made no changes in method which would reduce the cost."

Mayor's Comment.
Mayor Kiel, to whom this bureau letter was addressed, today said: "I don't even read what they say. They don't tell us how to reduce expenses—all they do is criticize."

Director of Streets and Sewers Fisk left last night for a vacation in Michigan. Street Commissioner Slater, acting director, said he did not feel he ought to make a statement in the absence of his chief. The research bureau's bulletin last week declared that the city's street sweepers actually worked about 2 1/2 hours daily and lost the rest of the time, and offered the conclusion that about 85 men could do the work of the present 170, at a saving of $76,500 a year. Director Fisk said then that strong, able-bodied men would not sweep streets for the pay of $3 a day, and asserted that full efficiency was not expected of street cleaners, since, if they didn't have this work, the city probably would have to care for many of them in institutions.

This week's bulletin mentions another, dated May 21 last, which indicated wide differences between the costs of various cleaning methods, adding: "We suggested a revision of the system of records to aid city officials in determining the most efficient and economical method. The form of records has not been changed."

ments in the election of Nov. 4. Attorney-General Barrett has decided, in a letter to City Counselor Sent, reversing his previous opinion that they must go on a separate ballot.

They are the referendums on the ordinance locating the new $4,000,000 bond-issue courthouse on Memorial Plaza and on the ordinance directing that condemnation suits for land for a northeast approach to the municipal bridge be dropped, ending the approach by opponents of the approach to keep that referendum off the ballot altogether.

DENIES OBJECTING TO PRELATE

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 2.—John Gordon of Jefferson City, who presided at the Capitol dedication, has denied a portion of the Post-Dispatch report of the dedication to the effect that he protested against the presence of Archbishop Glennon on the program, and objected to inclusion of the character, Pere Marquette, in the pageant. Gordon, a reputed klanman, insisted he had not objected to the appearance of the Archbishop or inclusion of Marquette in the pageant. He said he had approved the proposal to invite the Archbishop here and asserted he did not know the character Marquette was in the pageant until the pageant was presented.

ST. LOUIS POST-DISPATCH

THE POST-DISPATCH PLATFORM.

I know that my retirement will make no difference in its cardinal principles, that it will always fight for progress and reform, never tolerate injustice or corruption, always fight demagogues of all parties, never being to any party, always oppose privileged classes and public plunderers, never lack sympathy with the poor, always remain devoted to the public welfare, never be satisfied with merely printing news, always be drastically independent; never be afraid to attack wrong, whether by predatory plutocracy or predatory poverty.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

The name and address of the author must accompany every contribution, but on request will not be published. Letters not exceeding 200 words will receive preference.

Broadway and the New Courthouse.

Building the new courthouse on the Plaza will not benefit the entire city like building it on Broadway. Pulling the courthouse away from Broadway to Twelfth and Market streets will put a damper on Broadway property, and its parallel streets, which has cost its enterprising citizens millions of dollars, and will have a tendency to decrease the value of taxable property, which will amount to more than the cost of the new courthouse by the time the bonds mature that are to be sold to build it.

The Plaza does not need the new courthouse to help develop it. It can be made attractive and beautiful without the courthouse.

By building the courthouse on the Plaza, property worth millions of dollars on Broadway and its parallel streets will be injured. It is unjust for the city to injure and cause a loss to the property owners of one street in order to boost the property of another street without compensation. Such a move will hurt the entire city.

With downtown real estate values established on Broadway and its parallel streets, the investor will know he would not be injured by the city and by speculators boosting another street blocks away to cause a depreciation in his property.

St. Louis is said to be the only large city with no apparent established values of its real estate in its downtown section. Property will be paid for to make the Plaza to assure the owners that the city believes in its practice of the equity of justice. Why not apply the same principle to the property owners of Broadway and its parallel streets that will suffer a loss by taking the courthouse from Broadway?

The new courthouse built on Broadway will not cause any loss to any part of the city, but will benefit property now worth millions and help increase its taxable value. Broadway with its 13 miles of stores, factories, banks and bridge connections and other enterprises, which have been developed by a lifetime of labor and the expenditure of millions of dollars, should have established real estate values as near as possible for the benefit of the entire city.

The future greatness of St. Louis depends largely upon the development and the utilization of the Mississippi River. Its greatest asset, and building the new courthouse on Broadway will help lead to the development of its river front, which will lead to a newer and higher conception of beautifying the entire city, and add to its present and future standing, and lead to making St. Louis one of the greatest and most beautiful cities in the world.

C. J. GRIFFITH.

The Wherry Creek Sewer.

The proceedings of the city in re Oliver street suggest the advisability of a similar procedure in reference to the Wherry Creek sewer. I understand a new commission has been appointed on account of the rejection of the report of former commissioners allowing Cyrus Crane, Willmore's company $49,999 for crossing the land known as the Clarke farm, in a natural slough, that has been open since time began. The city might well emulate Col. Roosevelt's plan of the building of the Panama Canal, build the sewer and talk about the trouble afterward. Any way it is viewed, it is a dangerous problem and every day's delay is added menace to life and health of a community of 13,000 souls. Especially does this condition affect the Buder School, where on warm days and a south wind the odor from the open sewer becomes highly offensive.

W. E. LANDSOWNE.

To Make Labor the Goat.

To the Editor of the Post-Dispatch:
B. McADAMS, ex-president of the American Bankers' Association, says that the laboring men must again take a cut in wages. It seems to the working class that it is high time for the moneyed interests, including Mr. Dawes, to think up some other way to help Europe than picking on the wages of the producer, who, by the way, has been the goat ever since the war, while the cost of living keeps trying for a high-altitude record. Mr. McAdams says "only a step from Dawes to Dawn."

One does not have to be a banker, or a very highly educated person, to see that if we abide by the decisions of such men, that the workers will get their wages reduced, while the G. O. P., or rather, its leaders, make millions in oil, or some other scheme equally as rotten. So let us get after the cause for such statements first, and when they are taken care of, the other things will come in natural succession.

ROBERT O. PULLIAM.

A COOLIDGE CONGRESS.

"We must bend our energy not only to elect the President but to elect a majority in Congress able and willing to co-operate with him." Such is the judgment of Senator McCormick of Illinois. Republicans would doubtless like to have Mr. McCormick explain just how they can elect a majority in Congress that will co-operate with the President. There are 17 Republican Senators standing for re-election this year. Of this number 13 are candidates for re-election. Those men were colleagues of Senator McCormick, who, therefore, is familiar with their record. As a partisan Mr. McCormick may urge their re-election, but will be undertake to say that those men, if sent back to the Senate, will co-operate with the President?

The 13 Republican candidates for re-election to the Senate are: Borah, Idaho; Brookhart, Iowa; Bursum, New Mexico; Capper, Kansas; Couzens, Michigan; Edge, New Jersey; Fernald, Maine; Keyes, New Hampshire; McNary, Oregon; Norris, Nebraska; Phipps, Colorado; Sterling, South Dakota; Warren, Wyoming. How many of those men can be counted on as able and willing to co-operate with the President?

Borah is a lonely figure, who follows his own way with a serene, superior disregard for regularity. He is a valuable public servant, but he is anything but a dependable partisan.

Brookhart has openly expressed his contempt for Mr. Coolidge, who, he says, belongs to the Wall Street bloc.

Bursum is the author of a pension bill which he tried to pass over Mr. Coolidge's veto and failed only by one vote.

Capper deserted the President on the bonus veto. He is a Coolidge candidate for re-election, but he was not a Coolidge Senator. He is the head of the farm bloc and as such is anathema to the regulars.

Couzens, too, is now for Coolidge, but he reserves the right to be guided by his own convictions and his row with Secretary Mellon has forever branded him a heretic.

McNary belongs to the Brookhart school. Norris of Nebraska has been fighting the Republican Old Guard for 20 years.

So, of the 13 Republican candidates for re-election seven, or more than a majority, have officially shown that they are unable or unwilling, or both, to follow Mr. Coolidge. How, then, can the voters act on Senator McCormick's advice as to electing a majority in Congress who will co-operate with the President? Clearly they cannot elect a Coolidge Senate by returning the Republican candidates, and the House confronts them with about the same enigma.

The obvious truth is that the Republican party has disintegrated. It is now a swarm of warring factions. It may be that a great leader could re-construct it into an efficient organization capable of discharging the responsibilities of government, but nobody can honestly suspect Mr. Coolidge of possessing the genius for such a task. Should Mr. Coolidge be elected, along with a so-called Republican Congress the impotent spectacle of the last session will be continued—the spectacle of an executive whose proposals are ignored, whose vetoes are overridden.

Mr. McAdams is in a Baltimore hospital recovering from an operation. Gov. Smith is in a Boston bed fighting an attack of rheumatism, but John W. Davis, who got the nomination, is up and going strong for the White House.

THE MYSTERIOUS "PIASA BIRD."

Who were the aboriginal progenitors of the American Indian? Is he directly related to the Eskimo? Did Chinese hordes swarm across the great land bridge that in prehistoric days connected North America with Asia where now are the Bering Straits and the Aleutians?

All these questions and more may be expected to spring into prominence again with the restoration of the mysterious "Piasa Bird" on the river bluffs at Alton. For this grotesque creature, restored from descriptions of persons who saw it, resembles nothing so much as the popular conception of a Chinese dragon, thereby giving those who hold by the theory of Chinese ancestry of Indian and Eskimo an opportunity to reopen the discussion. And, of course, there are also those who contend that Chinese explorers were in North America long before Columbus.

Tantalizing in its mystery, the "Piasa Bird" has started down from its perch for centuries, and while many are the conjectures as to its origin, none has solved it. Marquette and Joliet saw it, but even then the Indians could not tell who had painted the fantastic thing on the rocks, or why or when. Whether it was the work of aborigines or of some forgotten Indian chief of comparative modernity the Indians' legends could not show.

So the "Piasa Bird" remains a mystery, but its restoration provides a chance for theorists to brush up on their anthropology and discuss what racial conditions might have been when American Indians and Eskimos were pictals.

Mr. Mellon's advisers apparently regard his defense of his aluminum affairs as somewhat worse than nothing.

COOLIDGE ON CORRUPTION

Speaking of official corruption and the betrayal of the people during the Republican administration, President Coolidge, in his speech to the Associated Press in New York on April 22, said:

"BUT THE WONDER IS NOT THAT THIS (CORRUPTION) IS SO MUCH AND SO MANY (CORRUPTIONISTS); RATHER THAT IT IS SO LITTLE AND SO FEW."

Considering the privilege-seeking environment of the administration, the organized greed allied with the Republican party and pressing for enriching favors through robber tariffs, concessions and deals in natural resources, and the easy attitude of all the members of the administration toward schemes of profit and plunder at the expense of the people, Mr. Coolidge is right in saying that it is a wonder, not that there is so much corruption, but that corruption was not greater and the corruptionists more numerous.

Mr. Coolidge himself was a member of the administration, and sat in the Senate and the Cabinet meetings while the corruption, disgraceful abuses in office and betrayal of the public interests were taking place. His remark, his complacent conduct toward officials involved in the oil scandal and towards the disgraceful mess in the Department of Justice, his reluctance to dismiss officials tainted by the scandals or to aid in any way in exposing their scandalous conduct in official life reveal a blunted sense of political honesty. There is no reflection on his own personal honesty. But his attitude and utterances show that he does not feel, as all honest men ought to feel, the outrage of Republican corruption. He seems satisfied with an administration that is only 70 per cent pure.

Are the American people morally dead? Are they willing to condone official corruption? Are they willing to intrust their Government to men whose indignation is aroused at the exposure of official misconduct, but not at the misconduct itself?

LIGHT ON THE SLUSH FUNDS.

Mr. La Follette prepared his way well when he secured the adoption by the Senate of the resolution providing for a special committee to investigate campaign funds and expenditures for the purpose of publicity before election. The evidence which he read before his Scranton, Pa., audience beyond doubt justifies him now in the demand that the Committee on Campaign Publicity be called together and that it subpoena some of the known money bags of the Republican party now collecting a huge fund to elect Coolidge and evading public scrutiny by handling the money outside the national committee.

Honest men of all parties must stand with La Follette in the position that "it is vital that the American people know before election day exactly what the money interests are doing to influence their decision at the polls." Siemp, the patronage-broker secretary to the President, W. T. Mellon and Chairman Butler are quick to give the lie to La Follette's expressed suspicions based on a public letter and a New York Times news dispatch. But if La Follette is wrong these men should welcome a thorough investigation.

It is highly interesting to note that the Grundy letter, speaking for the group of capitalists handling funds to elect Coolidge, opposes not only the election of La Follette and Wheeler, "a Lenin and Trotsky, with a formidable band of followers made up of the vicious, ignorant and discontented element," whose election is generally conceded to be unlikely, but it would be dissatisfied with such a liberal, progressive champion of honest government as John W. Davis. Any government that rebuffs privilege is chaos to privilege.

THE FRUITS OF INTOLERANCE.

No disaster that the mind can picture equals in its hideous possibilities the coming in this country of a separation of its citizenship into discordant groups along racial or religious lines. Nothing would so utterly destroy our happiness and security at home and our dignity and influence abroad.—Excerpt from a speech by John W. Davis.

Young Roosevelt says he wants no votes on account of his illustrious parent. It seems, then, that he doesn't know yet why he was nominated.

ATTENTION, MR. DAWES.

The attention of Gen. Dawes is directed to a speech of Senator Borah's at Idaho Falls. For this reason: Mr. Dawes has refused to reply seriously to Senator Wheeler's criticism of the transaction between the Dawes bank and the unsavory Lorimer.

Mr. Borah has, in effect, reiterated the Wheeler charge. "The Republican party is on the defensive in this campaign," the Idaho Senator says, "and the men who are responsible for this embarrassing position are those who have defended Newberryism and Lorimerism."

It is unlikely that Mr. Dawes will attempt to dismiss Mr. Borah with a supercilious gesture. Nor will the frayed epithets of peevish or hohoevst serve in this instance. Mr. Borah's superior rating precludes such retort. Mr. Borah's implication that Mr. Dawes' candidacy is a party liability demands the best explanation which the Republican candidate for Vice President can give of the extraordinary and unfortunate favor he bestowed upon a discredited politician.

Reputed by both church and Ku Klux Klan, the recently deceased Charles D. McGhee probably feels that the way of the klanngressor is hard.

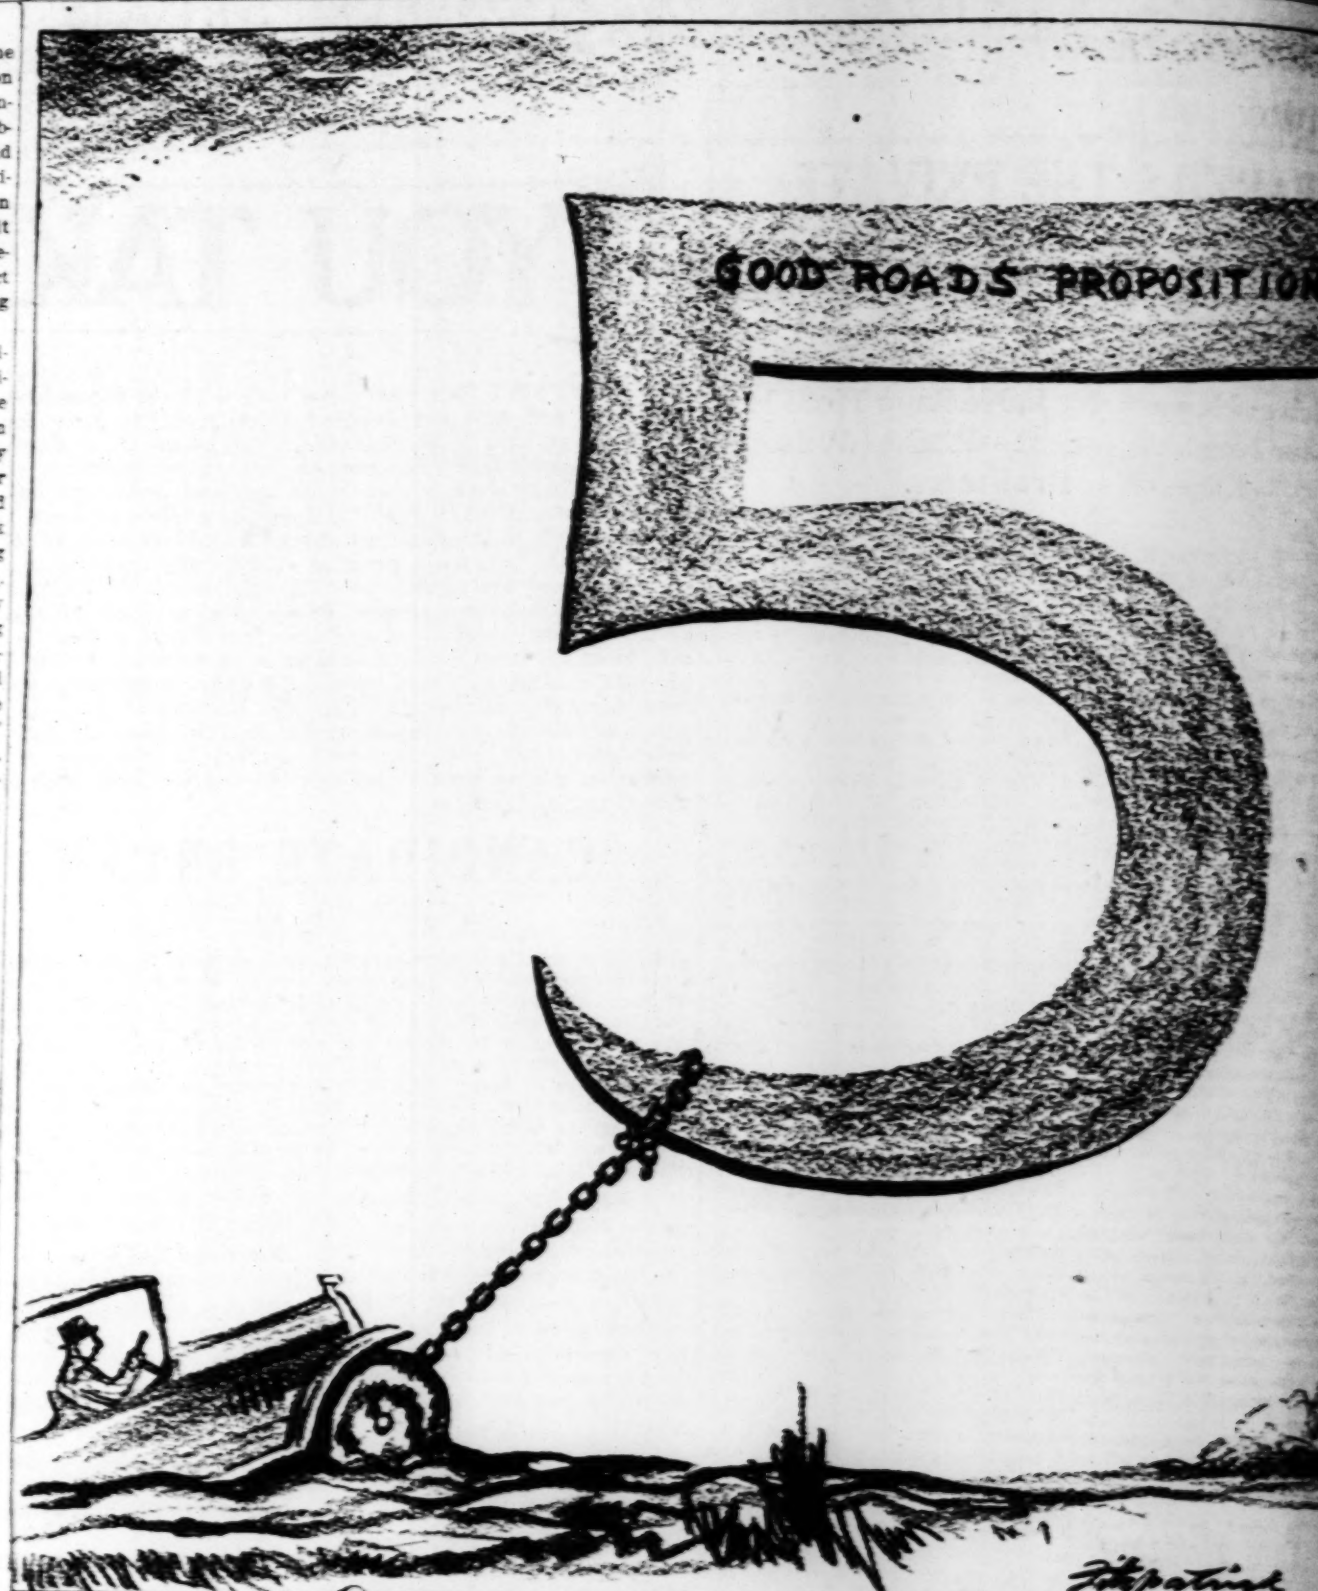

A PITCHER AND A STORY.

Washington's victory over New York Tuesday was something new in the dramatic annals of world's series baseball. It was the triumph of Pitcher Mogridge, who brought to the task only the wisdom of an aged warrior's many battles and a stout heart. The quality of the man's courage somehow communicated itself to the crowd, for when he had reached the end of his physical strength and could not pitch another ball, and was obliged to retire, the audience acclaimed him with one of the finest demonstrations ever accorded a player.

And Mogridge's truly great exhibition has been worthily related in Roy Stockton's truly great story in the Post-Dispatch. Here was no report of a ball game. Here was the narrative of a gallant effort in the swift, vivid, impatient sentences of a Hugo. Stockton has done for the victorious Mogridge what Grantland Rice did for the vanquished Mathewson on that long ago Boston afternoon—he has made him "the legend of an epic hour."

The President feels that there is no demand for haste in naming an agricultural research commission, as he believes agriculture has retained its feet. Then why have any commission at all?

The Literary Digest should look into the returns from Arkansas, where the Hon. Tom Terral, for Governor, and the rest of the Democratic ticket have been elected by an 8 to 1 vote.

JUST A MINUTE

Written for the Post-Dispatch
by CLARK McADAMS

FREE VEISE.

Some time ago Mr. Hoover spoke on the radio about public ownership. Eighteen great sending stations were hooked up for the occasion, and it is estimated that not less than 3,000,000 people heard the speech.

Somebody said afterward that if you had any property at all you would have gone and nailed it down after hearing that speech.

One man told us he even stepped into the hall and put his hat and coat on after hearing it.

He wanted to know where they were. It was a phillipic. A phillipic is that in which you take something you don't like and knock hell out of it.

That was what happened in this instance.

Very well. Maybe after the interval since that speech we can say something that has been in our mind.

We know nothing about public ownership. Or next to nothing. We never looked into it.

We don't even know how it happens that a private corporation isn't delivering the mail.

That is enough innocence to qualify us as a casual observer, wouldn't you say?

Good!

If we turn an electric light on at home, the chances are the bulb will blow out. If it is not that, it is something else. The electrician runs in and out of the house like a bobbin.

Private corporation.

Then there is the telephone. You know how that is. Sometimes it does, and sometimes it doesn't.

Anyway, private corporation.

We also have gas. Lately they put in a new meter.

We thought it went around too fast and had it inspected at the City Hall.

This cost us a dollar, but the City Hall found it was fast and got 34 cents of our last gas bill back for us.

That is our observation.

We can't tell that to 3,000,000 people, as Mr. Hoover could tell his story.

Nevertheless, we'll wager 10,000,000 have found it out for themselves.

The country papers in Missouri are evidently not much interested in giving Senator La Follette a square deal, if one may judge by the following from the Sikeston Standard:

It has been a hard matter in past years to get the voters sufficiently interested in the elections to come out to vote. If there was ever a time when everyone who is entitled to vote should turn out, it is this time. The La Follette political party is a direct attack on the Constitution of the United States, and Republicans and Democrats alike, who believe in the Constitution, should turn out and vote for safe government. The United States should never let the Bolsheviks get a foothold in this country and it is up to the voters themselves.

That would be interesting if true. It isn't true. Senator La Follette proposes an amendment to the Constitution, which is all that the drys or the anti-child laborites have proposed. The only way in which this can be construed as an attack upon the Constitution is to become afraid that he is probably right about it, and nothing else but that fear accounts for all the twaddle that is being ladled out to us on the subject.

Louisiana courts have decided that the third party cannot have elections in that State. They have too recently decided down there to let the Republicans enjoy this privilege to think of allowing it to someone else right away.

The White House gardener has bolted the Republican party and come out for La Follette. A house divided against itself cannot stand.

The Federal Trade Commission is entirely credible in its report that there is an aluminum monopoly in the country. There would be, of course, and it surprises nobody to learn that Mr. Mellon is in it. He would be.

Hubert Work, Secretary of the Interior, says the Republican party is a going concern. We know it, and if we can keep it from going south with any more of our oil reserves we are certainly going to do so.

MR. COOLIDGE AND THE KLAN.

FROM THE NEW YORK EVENING POST.
THE negro race has ample reason for indignation over the attitude of Mr. Coolidge, but it must realize that the Republican Board of Strategy has done its utmost to keep the negro from the polls. It is the refusal of the President to accept the delegation of colored men from Ohio and Maryland. The colored people of the country must understand that it is usual for a presidential nominee to avoid any element having a large negro vote. When he does so it is an expression of his contempt. There are reasons for this. The negro vote is a vote for the South, and the South is a land of hate against the negro. They would have insisted on direct expression from Mr. Coolidge of his attitude toward the negro.

It would have interfered with the rare sport of riding two horses going in opposite directions at the same time. It is a feat of the circus, and the President has been unfair to the klanmen of Indiana, who are directing the President's campaign in that State. It would have been a disgrace to the President's office. Mr. Siemp, leader of the Whites of the South and confidential adviser of the Republican nominee, was unnecessary—according to the Board of Strategy. Are not the colored vote and the Republican party?

State Candidates on Tour
Also Allege Inequality in Property Assessment Against Democrats.

BY CURTIS A. BETTS,
Staff Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

WEST PLAINS, Mo., Oct. 9.—Gov. Hyde's extravagance and waste of public funds by Republican State officials under the Hyde administration is the leading charge brought by Democratic candidates for State office on their tour of Southern Missouri counties. They couple with this a charge that inequality in the assessment of property for purposes of taxation has resulted in a much lower rate of assessments in many Republican counties than in many Democratic counties.

Curtis M. Buford, nominee for Lieutenant-Governor, and Elmer O. Jones, nominee for Attorney-General, are the principal speakers in the group. Mrs. Kate Morrow, nominee for Secretary of State, and George H. Midekemp, nominee for State Auditor, merely appearing and speaking briefly.

Increased Expenses Cited.
The Democratic candidates have prepared comparative figures, showing the cost of the State Government under each official for the 44 months of the Hyde administration which have elapsed, and have compared these expenditures with those of the same officers for the first 44 months of the administration of Gov. Gardner, Hyde's Democratic predecessor.

In each instance, the Democrats charge a greatly increased expense under the present administration. Jones gave the figures at a meeting in Houston, Texas, County, yesterday afternoon, and Buford used them in his speech here last night. At both meetings the crowds were in which they were held were filled to capacity.

The expenses of the office of Governor for 44 months under Hyde, they said, were $12,744,442 for 44 months under Gardner, $114,376, which shows, they said, that the taxpayers of Missouri had to pay $14,488 more to keep Hyde in office than they had to pay for a Democratic administration under Gardner. They reported that the increased payment for salaries in the office was $5615 more under Hyde than under Gardner.

Difference of $459,809.
Their report of the expenditures for the same period in the office of Secretary of State under Charles U. Becker, Republican candidate for re-election, and under John L. Sullivan, his Democratic predecessor, showed a total of $1,148,132 under Becker, and $688,324 under Sullivan, a difference of $459,809 more under Becker. They said Becker had paid out in salaries in the 44 months $37,125 more than Sullivan.

For the office of State Auditor, they made the comparison between the first 44 months of George H. Hackmann's present administration and the first 44 months of the administration of John P. Gordon, his Democratic predecessor. Under Hackmann the cost was given as $280,272 and under Gordon $375,070, a difference of $143,202 more for Hackmann. The speakers asserted that salaries for the period were $60,505 more under Hackmann than under Gordon.

In the office of Attorney-General, the difference reported was $46,478 more for Attorney-General Barrett than the $1,881,569 more for the pleasure of having the Hyde administration. Similar figures were quoted for other State departments.

Brought on High Taxes.
Of course, the speakers said, "It takes high taxes to meet all this Republican extravagance. It is not to be wondered that taxes have been increased." In addition to the departments enumerated, the speakers gave figures on the contingent funds of the officers on the State Board of Health, the Insurance Department, the Tax Commission, the cost of paper for State printing and on the Oil Inspection Department.

"In these departments alone," they said, "the taxpayers of the State had to pay in 44 months the enormous sum of $1,881,569 for the pleasure of having the Hyde administration. It cost every month $42,962 more to keep Gov. Hyde and his associates in office than it did Democrats."

Taking up the question of taxation and assessments, the speakers denied that Arthur W. Nelson, the nominee for Governor, advocated a return to the old system of fractional assessments. They said he favored fair assessments, based on the value of property. "He has said," Buford declared, "in his speech last night, 'that present assessments should be reduced.'"

INSPECTORS INVESTIGATING CHARGES OF TAMPERING WITH LITERARY DIGEST POLL

About 30 Complaints Received From Magazine, but Number of Fraudulent Ballots Is Said to Be Small.

Post-Dispatch Bureau.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Postal inspectors are investigating between 25 and 30 complaints that local postal employees have illegally returned straw votes in the Literary Digest's presidential poll by using ballots addressed to persons who had changed their residence. It was learned at the Postoffice Department today.

Similar trouble, but more widespread, was encountered in the Digest's poll on the Mellon tax plan last winter, although the exact figures are not obtainable. Penalties ranging from reprimands to dismissals were meted out to the offenders last winter, and in several instances the pay of delinquents was reduced. It was said at the office of First Assistant Postmaster-General Bartlett.

Order to Return Ballots.
In an effort to reduce such illegal tampering with the mail to a minimum, the Postoffice Department, Monday, issued an order that all uncollectible ballots shall be returned to New York City, where it has been arranged that the Literary Digest shall pay the return postage.

With the Mellon tax poll no such plan was carried out. The ballots were sent out as third-class mail, for which there was no directory service. In the event the addressee had changed residence, the local postoffice, by the postal regulations, was directed to add the mail for a week and then destroy it. In the Mellon tax poll, some of the local clerks filled out the ballots and returned them to the Digest officials. These said they declared that they had no data as to how these votes were cast, but presumed they reflected the opinion of the over-suspicious clerks. They pointed out that the offenders were punished, not for voting one way or another, but because they had tampered with the mails. It was denied at the department that special instructions had been sent out during the Mellon poll that the undelivered ballots should be destroyed or that inspectors had gone all over the country to effect such destruction.

Complaints From Digest.
The department officials explained that they took for granted that the regulations were being followed and the delinquent ballots destroyed, but added that inspectors were sent to those localities about which complaints had been received.

The procedure of sending out inspectors is being followed in the presidential poll. Where it is proved that employees have illegally returned ballots they will be severely punished because of the specific instructions that the undelivered ballots be returned to New York.

Chief Inspector Rush D. Simmons said that the complaints had come from the Literary Digest. He said he had no information as to how the fraud was detected by the company, but he assumed that the company's clerks had detected similar markings or had noticed the time on the postmarks.

Simmons said his information was that the ballots were signed so forcing could not be charged. Illegal ballots were not all for one candidate nor from any particular section of the country. He declined to give the names of localities of the alleged offenders either in the present poll or in that on the Mellon plan, nor would he estimate the number of votes said to have been cast illegally. He said that the number was small compared with the total of ballots sent out.

New York World's Analysis.
The Democratic National Committee today gave out a statement quoting from an editorial in the New York World, which said: "Anybody who can explain how Mr. Coolidge could fail to have a commanding lead in the Literary Digest's poll is entitled to put in a claim as master of the world's highest mathematics."

According to the Literary Digest's own figures, defining party members as they voted in the last election, the Digest has sent its

2 MORE PAYDAYS FOR CITY WORKERS BEFORE ELECTION

7000 Employees to Get $900,000 — Republican City Committee Needs
$20,000 for Campaign.

"VOLUNTARY" GIFTS EXPECTED TO HELP

Many Ward Clubs Have Dues - Paying Members Who Are Employed by City.

Two more city hall paydays before election—the first next Thursday and the second Nov. 1—are expected to prevent any lack of campaign funds on the part of the Republican City Committee. The city will pay 7000 employees, mostly of the Police Department, about $900,000 on the two days. The City Committee needs $10,000 or more for campaign purposes.

The City Charter prohibits assessing city employees for political purposes, and they are not assessed in the strict mathematical way that they were in bygone years. But the "voluntary" gifts of city employees to the dominant party's campaign fund are noticeably larger than those of persons in private employment, though the latter may have much larger incomes.

Skilled Men Indifferent.
In general, it is noticed that skilled craftsmen, members of trade unions, do not pay much attention to the political aspects of their jobs, and are not dependable contributors to campaign funds. Yet the "voluntary" gifts of city employees to the dominant party's campaign fund are noticeably larger than those of persons in private employment, though the latter may have much larger incomes.

Candidates Must Pay Off.
Assessment of candidates, on a basis of 10 per cent of the first year's salary of the office sought, is an openly recognized way of raising campaign funds. The percentage of city employees' gifts is not so exact, but the general understanding is that, at election time, a contribution of 10 per cent of one month's pay is a seemingly offering for an employee getting $150 a month or more, and that five per cent will do for those making less than $150 a month. In past years, division heads in the public works department have been credited with gifts of $500 or more, though employees have contributed little thus far. He said the committee might not need much more than $30,000 for this election. It had a surplus of $10,000 after the election of two years ago, in which it spent nearly $17,000.

LA FOLLETTE LOSES FIGHT FOR ELECTORS ON LOUISIANA BALLOT
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 9.—The La Follette-Wheeler forces in Louisiana lost their fight yesterday to have the names of their electors carried on the ballot in the general election next month when Federal District Judge Rufus Foster dismissed their petition for an injunction against Secretary of State James J. Bailey.

The Secretary of State had refused to place the independent electors on the ballot because the independents had not complied with the State law and the La Follette-Wheeler forces had failed to print the ballots unless he did so. Judge Foster held that the Federal Court was without jurisdiction.

Forger Suspect in Kentucky Tells of Taking Papers Off Body of L. G. Sway.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
LOUISVILLE, Oct. 9.—Jesse L. Earheart, 27 years old, under arrest here on charges of forgery, told the police he found the body of L. G. Sway, formerly employed by the Missouri Pacific Railroad at St. Louis and Texarkana, Ark., a little more than a year ago in a railroad yard at Texarkana and that he took papers from the dead man's pocket and used them to identify himself as Sway.

He placed papers in Sway's pocket bearing the name of Earheart, so that it would be thought he had been killed. Earheart told the police he had served a prison term in Texas and assumed the Sway name so the stigma of a prison sentence would not follow him. Papers were found in Earheart's possession. One of the documents was a discharge from the army for L. G. Sway and the other a Missouri Pacific Railroad statement showing Sway had been employed at St. Louis and Texarkana, Ark.

PLANS ANNOUNCED FOR WORK OF TRANSOCEANIC RADIO

American Stations Will Attempt to Broadcast to Europe Each Night.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Plans for a national radio week, from Nov. 24 to 30, during which American broadcasting stations will try to transmit messages to Europe, and European stations will attempt to establish regular communication with America, are announced by Arthur Lynch of New York, attending the national radio conference here.

President Coolidge will be invited to broadcast a message of greetings to the people of Europe and other foreign lands, and King George of England will be invited to speak to America, Lynch said. The plan calls for the American stations to broadcast to foreign countries between 10 and 11 p. m. Eastern time, each night during the week, while the European stations will broadcast to America from 11 to 12 o'clock, each night.

David Sarnoff, vice president of the Radio Corporation of America, expressed the willingness of his concern to erect a super-station within several miles of New York City, on the condition that it would be closed by the Government within a year if it created undue interference with other stations, or did not meet with popular approval.

President Coolidge, in an address yesterday declared for preservation of the freedom of the air from monopoly.

First official information as to the output of the radio industry was made public by the census bureau. It shows the value of radio apparatus and tubes aggregated $48,022,927 last year.

Fight Here Between Coolidge and Bryan, Republican Chairman
Reports to Chairman.
By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—Callers on William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, at national headquarters here yesterday included National Committeeman Ed R. Clements of St. Louis. Mr. Butler, chairman of the Missouri Republican Party, believed the campaign has become a contest between President Coolidge and Gov. Bryan, Democratic vice presidential nominee, the latter figuring as an opponent, because of the possibility of the election being thrown into Congress.

Mr. Butler submitted to the national chairman evidence which he said supported Butler's charges that a working agreement exists between the Democrats and the La Follette supporters. The La Follette organization in Indiana, he said, had endorsed all Democratic candidates for Congress except one.

Mr. Butler told Butler that "the Democratic party will emerge from the campaign in 1924 weaker than ever before in its history." It is being totally absorbed west of the Mississippi River," he declared.

SEEK TO STOP VOTE ON BRIDGE REFERENDUM

St. Louisans Apply for Writ to Prevent Issue Being Placed on Ballot.

By the Jefferson City Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch.

JEFFERSON CITY, Oct. 9.—The Supreme Court will tell the St. Louis Election Board, on or before Oct. 22, whether it shall place on the official ballot, in the election Nov. 4, the referendum proposal relating to the northeast approach of the Free Bridge.

The court today issued an alternative writ of mandamus, temporarily restraining the Election Board from placing the referendum matter on the ballot, but it was the writ returnable next Wednesday, and attorneys are to have their briefs ready then, after which the court will take no more than a week to decide the case. Because of printing requirements, the Election Board will need to know by Oct. 22 what is and what is not to be placed on the ballot.

The application for a writ of mandamus, to prevent the Election Board from placing on the ballot the referendum on an ordinance directing the dismissal of suits to condemn land for the proposed northeast approach of the bridge, was filed yesterday by Glendy B. Arnold, counsel for the St. Louis Chamber of Commerce.

Several St. Louisans Named. It was filed on behalf of Melville L. Wilkinson, W. Palmer Clarkson, president of the Chamber of Commerce; Daniel H. Kremer, Harry F. Six, Baxter L. Brown, William H. Dennis, J. Henry Conrades, Carl F. G. Meyer, Eugene D. Nims and Paul V. Bunn, several of whom are members of the Citizens' Supervisory Bond Issue Committee of St. Louis.

City Counselor Senti today filed suggestions in opposition to the application. Senti's suggestions are based largely on the contention that the ordinance in question is properly subject to the referendum. Arnold asserts that the action of the Board of Aldermen was not really an ordinance, but an order or resolution, not subject to referendum vote.

The petition pointed out that only $1,500,000 had been authorized for the proposed bridge approach, in the $7,000,000 public improvement bond issue authorized at an election in St. Louis in February, 1923, and that engineers had estimated the cost of the approach at $5,500,000. An ordinance directing condemnation of the site was passed, and later repealed. Supporters of the proposed approach then sought the referendum on the repeal ordinance.

In suggestions filed with the court, Arnold declared the object of the mandamus proceeding was "to defeat an illegal, expensive and perfectly absurd referendum on what in reality is a mere revocable-at-any-time order of the Board of Aldermen."

He asserted no law or public policy was at stake, and charged the purpose of the referendum was to hamper the Board of Aldermen in administration of its duties and "to confuse the voters at an important general election."

MOTORCYCLIST DIES FROM INJURIES AFTER CRASH

Ralph Bogs Succumbs From Fractured Skull After Hitting Wagon.

Ralph Bogs, 22 years old, of 5935 Flyer avenue, died at city hospital today of a fractured skull suffered last Friday, when, after swerving his motor cycle in front of 5515 Manchester avenue, he was thrown against the wheel of a wagon driven by Harry Stutzer, 2130 South Fourth street.

Bogs was driving west in Manchester, and Stutzer was driving east, at the time of the accident. It is not known what caused Bogs to suddenly swerve.

How Gas on the Stomach Affects Heart

Any physician will tell you that abnormal gas in the stomach is frequently the cause of sharp pains about the heart, palpitation, difficult breathing or other symptoms which may lead the sufferer to believe he has organic heart trouble. In such cases great distress often results from the stomach being forced against the heart by gas pressure and disturbing the function of that organ.

You can soon get rid of all discomfort due to gas by taking Epsa Gas Tablets before and after meals. These pleasant Homeopathic tablets contain no injurious substance of any kind. They offer the safest and quickest relief obtainable. Demand "Epsa," the original Gas Tablets. Many good doctors have prescribed them for years. Price, $1. Sold in St. Louis by Judge & Dolph, Wolff-Wilson Drug Co., Johnson Bros. Drug Co., and other leading druggists. Boerliche & Runyon Co., Mfrs., San Francisco.

People who have enlarged glands ought to know that by freely applying Emerald Oil daily the gland can be brought to a head and all the germs and poisonous secretions discharged and destroyed.

Furthermore, the opening will heal surely and speedily and without leaving an unsightly scar. People who desire this treatment should secure a two-ounce original bottle of Emerald Oil (full strength) and use as directed. It is a very concentrated preparation, and a small quantity lasts a long time. It is also used to reduce swollen veins and dissolve galls.

NO greater satisfaction could reward Gertrude for her abstinence from sweets, her desiccation of lunch and her numerous daily dozens than the ability to do justice to the sleek, slender dignity of this new Ensemble Suit. Beneath a full-length coat of cranberry-red Poi de Laine with mole-skin choker collar is a dress of the same material combined with Filie. Forty cranberry buttons mark the under-arm seam of the long, tight sleeves. The silk extends to a tunic length where a narrow band of copper thread embroidery separates it from the Poi de Laine, completing the skirt. A circular mole-skin flounce finishes the bottom and is seen advantageously below the coat.

The rich smoothness—the tantalizing difference of this new loaf cheese makes your guests ask "Is this a new kind of Cheese?"

The new loaf cheese with the pie you love best

Crisp brown crust so light and crumbly it fairly melts in your mouth, thick juicy apples and generous squares of the new kind of American cheese.

And such cheese!

Rich and creamy with a mellow delicate flavor you never tasted before. With it apple pie becomes something special—still your favorite but an added distinction makes you proud to offer it to your guests.

The richness, the rare delicacy of flavor of this delicious loaf cheese, is achieved by a new way of mellowing. This single further step undreamt of by earlier cheesemakers is applied to the best American, Pimiento, Swiss and Brick Cheeses after they have been carefully ripened in the finest way.

SILZER CRITICISES COOLIDGE FOR HIS APATHY IN OFFICE

New Jersey Governor Attacks Ethics of President in Keeping Denby and Daugherty in Office.

SAYS DAVIS ONLY WORTHY CANDIDATE

Indicts Republican Tariff Bill and Motives Behind It in Referring to Aluminum Charges.

President Coolidge, as he might have been in the eyes of the American people and as he is, was sketched from the Democratic viewpoint by Gov. George S. Silzer of New Jersey in an address last night at the East St. Louis City Hall.

The Coolidge that might have been was pictured as one, who upon taking over the office of President, would have thrown Attorney-General Daugherty and Secretary of the Navy Denby out of office. The Coolidge that is, he said, is one who held members of his Cabinet, under grave charges of corruption, because he was afraid of losing votes. Public sentiment finally forced him to act, Gov. Silzer said. "If the Coolidge that might have been had come into office and cleaned the Cabinet of men who had no right to be there, no power on earth could have prevented his re-election," said the New Jersey executive. "But he refused to put the money changers from the temple. With an election coming on he fixed his eyes upon votes and by his very attempt to save them he has alienated them."

Predicts Democratic Congress. Gov. Silzer turned to a discussion of what President Coolidge could accomplish if re-elected. He offered the opinion that the next Congress would be Democratic and pointed out that the President consistently opposed in all his legislative projects by a Congress of his own political faith, could hardly hope to get far with one wherein the Democrats were in a majority. Gov. Silzer's manner of address is quiet and persuasive. There was little extending of arms and he rounded the table before him on only one occasion. He contented himself with a statement of what he considered the true situation and left the matter of decision to his audience.

By a process of elimination he sought to show that John W. Davis was the only candidate for President worthy of the office. Senator La Follette, he said, could not win and the Republicans, because of corruption, Coolidge's failure and awards of special privileges, did not deserve election. Knowing that his audience included railroad workers who might be favorable to La Follette, he launched into an indictment of the Wisconsin Senator's record toward destroying constitutional guarantees through withdrawing from the Supreme Court the power to declare unconstitutional congressional enactments.

He indicted the Republican tariff bill and the motives behind it. He charged it permitted large corporations to make huge profits and build up tremendous reserves at the expense of the public. He cited the Aluminum Company of America, of which Secretary of the Treasury Mellon was a director before he entered public office. He named the American Woolen Co., which he said had paid dividends on its stock regularly and had built up a $12,000,000 surplus. The Great Western Sugar Co., he charged, had made a profit of $12,000,000 in the past year on a $30,000,000 investment.

"It sounds a bit like Penna," he said, "but the administration just keeps cool."

"It is pretty hard to smoke this administration out of its policy of perpetual silence. It even saves words. As Al Smith said in New York the other night, the greatest example of conservation he had ever seen was a man who could keep a sap bucket in the family for 125 years."

Coolidge Silent.

"Coolidge was silent when Government property was given away, silent when the oil was taken and silent when 100,000 men of the Holy Name Society appeared before him. Would Woodrow Wilson and Teddy Roosevelt—I mean the original Roosevelt—not the young man who with a certificate of character is attempting to run against Al Smith for Governor of New York. They would have been out after the grafters."

Gov. Silzer departed last night for Chicago and will deliver several speeches throughout the West. He said that reports of Democratic deserting Davis in New York to elect Smith were untrue, and that the Democratic candidate in all likelihood would carry New York and New Jersey.

FLAWS IN ELECTION LAW BOTHER COUNTY

Absentees and Persons Who Were Ill on Registration Days Cannot Get on Lists.

Residents of St. Louis County, who were absent on business or vacation trips, or who were ill during the recent three days' period of registration, Sept. 30-Oct. 2, are asking the County Board of Election Commissioners what they can do to get on the list of registered voters.

The Commissioners are telling them that there is nothing to be done, and that they will lose their votes this year. An opinion of the Attorney-General's office backs up the Commissioners in their position.

St. Louis city voters who were absent or ill on the registration days have until Oct. 21 to file affidavits with the city Election Board, which will add their name to the lists. About 3000 such affidavits are expected to be made.

Provisions of Law.
Registration of St. Louis County voters, which took place this year for the first time, is conducted under a special law, passed by the 1923 Legislature. There is a section in this law which has the caption, "Registration of Invalids and absentees." But the section, when read, does not make provision for registration of either invalids or absentees. Instead, it provides for the enrolling of persons whom the clerk, on their canvass, did not find accounted for at the places from which they registered, but who are able to make a satisfactory showing later. The section further provides that, in the revision of the lists, "no new names shall be added." This is deemed to shut out all persons who did not register on the regular days.

Further examination of the St.
Louis County registration law shows it to be a legislative botch in several respects. It provides for a fourth and fifth day's registration, which would come this year on Oct. 17 and 18, or after the revision of the lists, the time for which this year is Oct. 14. On the advice of the Attorney-General's office, the commissioners have disregarded the provision for a fourth and fifth day of registration.

The section mistakenly headed "Registration of Invalids and absentees" is confusing in the extreme. As stated, it provides for the enrolling only of persons who registered, but as to whose place of residence a question has been raised. However, it provides that such persons shall swear that they were "ill or unavoidably absent" on the registration days. This does not make sense, and the statement will probably be omitted from the oath.

Law Found to Be Faulty.
The law provides for "intermediate registration," to be held at such times as the commissioners may decide. J. C. A. Hiller, Democratic commissioner, said today that it would not be feasible to hold such a registration after the revision of next Tuesday, Oct. 14, as it would open the books to all, and would need to be followed by another canvass and revision, for which there is not time before the election.

"The new law is faulty in many respects, and needs a thorough revision at the hands of the next Legislature," Commissioner Hiller said. "We are getting many requests and complaints from those who believe they are entitled to registration as invalids and absentees, and we would be glad to make provision for them. If the law permitted, but our best opinion and advice is that it does not."

SPEAKER TELLS CITY CLUB ROAD PLAN IS NON-POLITICAL Director of Good Roads Bureau of Auto Club Traces History of Program.

Politics has no part in Missouri's good roads program and neither political party can claim all credit for progress so far in constructing the 7600-mile State highway system, John M. Malang, director of the Good Roads Bureau of the Automobile Club of Missouri and former superintendent of the State Highway Commission, declared in an address at the City Club yesterday.

Speaking in favor of proposition
No. 5, the proposed State amendment providing a tax of 2 cents a gallon on gasoline and an increased automobile registration fee for the good roads fund, Malang urged that political discussions of the roads amendment be ignored.

"The State road program for Missouri was born in a cradle of non-partisanship," he declared, "and every amendment or new law strengthening the Highway Department has been passed with a bi-partisan view, naming bi-partisan commissioners, two from each political party, thus keeping it out of politics."

"It cannot be claimed by either party. The first highway law was passed in 1917 under a Democratic administration and provided for a bi-partisan commission. This law was amended by a Republican Legislature of 1919 and signed by a Democratic Governor, and after the constitutional amendment was adopted in 1920 the Legislature of 1921 passed what was known as the Centennial road law. This was done by a Republican House and a Democratic Senate and was signed by a Republican Governor."

HYDE KEEPS AFTER NELSON ABOUT KLAN

Governor Charges Gubernatorial Candidate Faces Both Ways on Question.

Special to the Post-Dispatch.
WASHINGTON, Mo., Oct. 9.—Gov. Hyde, addressing a Republican meeting here last night, again turned to his recently assumed task of propounding questions to Dr. Arthur W. Nelson, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, in an attack on Nelson's position. Hyde interpreted by Hyde, on the Ku Klux Klan, the State road program and the public schools. The Governor again demanded that Nelson answer the Hyde series of questions as to his stand on these issues.

The Governor charged that "Dr. Nelson faced both ways on the Klan issue, if it be an issue," and asserted that "only klansmen know where he stands on the Klan." He declared that thousands of klansmen would vote for Nelson.

While the Governor's entry into the campaign largely has been ignored by Democratic leaders, it is viewed with alarm by some of the nominees on the Republican State ticket, who fear the Governor's statements and speeches will drive Klan votes from the Republican ticket at the November election.

One of the State nominees, who declined to be quoted, stated that the protest of nominees and Republican leaders against these speeches had been conveyed to Hyde in an effort to head the Governor off.

These murmurs resulted, it was said, from a feeling that Sam A. Baker, Republican nominee for the governorship, should be spokesman for the State ticket in the campaign, and that Hyde, soon to retire, should remain in the background.

"I have received a number of letters which take me to task for bothering Dr. Nelson about the Klan," Hyde stated in his address. "One and all the writers say they are not themselves klansmen. Some of them strangely fail to sign their names. Most of them are abusive and ill-tempered."

"Speaking for myself," he continued, "I am not a member of any of the groups or classes proscribed by the Klan. I refuse to proscribe any law-abiding American citizen who holds fast to American ideals merely because of his race, color or creed. To proscribe the Catholic or Jew, because of their faith, would mean that, under other circumstances, I as a Protestant might lose my rights because I am a Protestant."

He asserted that he had not raised the Ku Klux Klan issue in addressing Dr. Nelson but stated that the latter, as a candidate, owed a duty to state his position on all issues. He declared that Nelson "now contents himself with the general statement that he is not a member of the Klan."

"The public has been informed," the speaker stated, "that, under the Klan oath, Klan membership ceases when the member is on the witness stand and at other times when admission of membership might be inopportune."

"Doctor Nelson faces both ways on the Klan issue, if it be an issue. He is commonly reported to have been a member but to have withdrawn after he became a candidate. Thousands of Klansmen are for that reason going to vote for him. He attempts by denying present membership to obtain the support of those who are not Klansmen."

"Nobody could have cleared up the situation except Doctor Nelson himself. He cannot be both for and against anything. He must be either for the Klan or against the Klan or neutral on the Klan."

Roads and schools. Hyde charged that Nelson had been evasive in his declarations of support for the public schools, charging that the Democratic pledge of tax reduction would result in reduced revenue for the schools.

Nelson's stand for good roads "means dirt roads and division of the road funds among the local road districts and the counties," Hyde averred. "He pledges himself to a good road system, proposes allegiance to the cause of good roads, but he cannot be dynamited into saying he favors the system of hard surfaced roads which is now under construction," the Governor charged.

Hassall, Who Was Sheriff When Selected, Resigned by J. J. Broderick.

Hassall of Shrewsbury resigned today as foreman of the St. Louis County grand jury after recently having been appointed to investigate the conduct of a public official of Prosecution.

Prosecution was mailed to Judge Wurdeman, following the resignation of the fact that he was yesterday at the time of the appointment, serving under Deputy Sheriff at the time of the resignation.

William, who drew the jury.

J. Broderick of Kirkwood, who was named foreman of the jury, was named foreman of the jury.

He stated he was resigning to refute claims that are based on fact.

Court's charges to the jury and to the habitual presence of the county and general counsel, and ordered the inquiry because of affidavits the prosecutor was involved in the prosecution of all parties.

the jury was "hand-picked" by William.

Judge Wurdeman learned Foreman Hassall was a Deputy Sheriff and he would not resign.

Hassall asserted that Hassall was an honorary deputy, drawing salary, and that he resigned as a deputy when made a grand juror.

The Unequivocal Recognition of the League of Nations and Adherence to the League of Nations.

Adopted by the Reichstag, Oct. 9.—Chancellor Brüning, in a political platform which he presented as a common meeting place for the Socialists and ultra-nationalists yesterday submitted to the Reichstag's leaders.

platform calls for unequivocal recognition of the League of Nations and adherence to the League of Nations.

Chancellor's program of primary importance is the League of Nations, so the equitable distribution of burdens among the German people is concerned.

provision for the League of Nations, this will be enacted according to Chancellor's plans, as rapid as the nation's situation permits.

respect to Germany's entry into the League of Nations, this has been along the lines of the Government's memorandum to the members of the League of Nations council.

Section of a Government memorandum into the international situation is as inimical to the success of Germany's reconstruction loan and the early settlement of the Dawes plan, opinion of many of the same leaders as well as industrial financial interests.

Honolulu Wants Dr. Foodick.
By the Associated Press.
HONOLULU, Oct. 9.—A radio-gram has been sent to Dr. Harry Emerson Foodick, who Monday re-

RECEIVER SOUGHT FOR AUTO INSURANCE FIRM

State to Act Against the American General Indemnity Corporation.

Suit to place the American General Indemnity Corporation of St. Louis, in receivership, and to enjoin it from continuing in business, was filed in Circuit Court here today by Attorney-General Barrett in behalf of State Insurance Commissioner Ben C. Hyde, whose appointment as receiver is suggested. It is charged that the company failed and refused to keep books on its operations, with the result that no adequate record of assets, liabilities and policy holders is available for audit. Another charge is that policies were issued although their form had not been submitted for approval by the Insurance Department.

Securities Deposited.
Bonds, mortgages and other securities with a purported par value of $108,500 were deposited by the company with the State in obtaining a license to do business in Missouri. These securities are being held to cover liabilities of the company. Their value has been impaired, the receiver contends, because certain of the purportedly insured are insolvent or bankrupt or deny having received any consideration for their signatures, while others deny execution of the documents. Alleging apparently the merger of the American General Co. with the Interstate Casualty Co., as announced last February, the suit states:

"Certain officers have endeavored to make an assignment of the business and assets of the corporation and transfer, assignment or sale of the stock of the corporation to another corporation, but this is not now, or never has been, approved by the Insurance Department." Loans by the American General to other corporations in which "certain officers" of the former company were financially interested have been a factor in the present condition of the American General, which makes its continued operation "hazardous to the public and policyholders," it is asserted.

A receiver for the Interstate company was appointed here August 14. In a report filed in court Friday, the receiver, former State Supreme Court Judge Charles G. Reville, stated the total impairment of assets amounted to $532,885, wiping out the paid-in capital stock of $500,000. The report also revealed that $14,500 in bonds were missing and that officers of the company obtained large loans from it, one item being a note for $51,000 bearing signatures of J. B. McCutchan, J. L. McNatt and C. C. Hill.

Failure of Gorin Bank.
McCutchan, a former vice president of the American General, became a vice president of the Interstate at the time of merger. He also was a director in the Citizens' Trust Co. of Gorin, Mo., in which the Interstate deposited $122,718.98. The bank has since failed and no payments have been made to depositors so far. McNatt was secretary and general counsel of the Interstate.

ILLINOIS DOCTOR SLAIN, APPARENTLY BY MISTAKE

Rock Island Physician Shot When Near Home by Two Men Who Abandon Auto.

By the Associated Press.
ROCK ISLAND, Ill., Oct. 9.—Dr. C. T. Foster, 55 years old, was shot and killed by two unidentified men who accosted him near his home last night. In a dying statement the doctor said it was his belief that the murderers had mistaken him for someone else they had marked for death. He had no known enemies.

One shot was fired, the men then fleeing and abandoning their automobile two blocks from the scene of the shooting. No arrests have been made.

FREED OF KILLING FATHER

Wisconsin Man Cleared, but Brother Must Face Trial.

By the Associated Press.
MARINETTE, Wis., Oct. 9.—Charge of murder against Louis Brandt, 28 years old, in connection with the death of his father, John Brandt Sr., in the burning of a barn at Beaver, three years ago, was dismissed by motion of District Attorney A. F. Murphy, yesterday, on the conclusion of testimony by the State's witnesses.

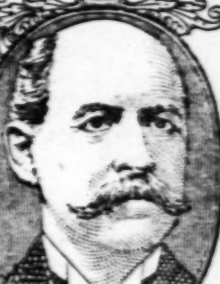

John Brandt, brother of Louis, heretofore charged jointly with murdering their father, now is the only defendant. Mrs. Agnes Pump-lyski of Milwaukee testified she was at the Brandt farm after the fire and also at the Dolomite home the night before, when she cared for Mrs. Brandt, who had been beaten by her husband, she said.

She related that on that night John Brandt said that if he caught his father he would "make a corpse of him."

Brewster to Speak in New York.
Special to the Post-Dispatch.
NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—Governor-elect Ralph O. Brewster of Maine

is scheduled for a series of campaign speeches in New York during the last ten days of the campaign. The national importance of Brewster rests solely upon his recent election as the approved candidate of the Ku Klux Klan. He will not speak in New York City. From what could be learned, his activity will be confined to those spots where the numerical strength of the hooded knights is of political importance.

CARAWAY WANTS

G. O. P. FUND INQUIRY

Says He Will Wire to Borah if Committee Is Not Summoned Soon.

By the Associated Press.
NASHVILLE, Tenn., Oct. 9.—An immediate investigation into the Republican campaign expenditures to determine whether the National Committee is raising an enormous slush fund to be expended in "buying" the election in doubtful states, is desired by Senator T. H. Caraway of Arkansas.

The Arkansas Senator, in a telephone communication from Carthage, Tenn., said that Senator Borah, chairman of the Senate Expenditures Committee, of which he is a member, does not call for an inquiry at once. Caraway will wire him demanding that a meeting be called.

"Every dollar brought in and expended by all three parties should be accounted for," said Caraway. "Bought elections will not be tolerated."

I understood when that committee was being formed that it would meet every 10 days to go over the reports of funds received and expended by all three parties. It was with this understanding that I accepted membership.

"While I have not heard from Senator Borah for more than six weeks, I understand that statements have been filed and I am anxious to have a meeting shortly. Since La Follette has made certain charges about the Republican National Committee headquarters yesterday, President Coolidge was exercised, but did not make any public utterance on the subject. Republicans who called on him congratulated him on his coolness, and advised him to pay no attention to La Follette."

Although no member of the Senate Committee on Campaign Contributions, headed by Borah of Idaho, is here to say what will be done about the allegations, the opinion among members of Congress is that under the provisions of the resolution creating the committee an investigation must be held. It is understood here that Borah has promised to call the committee together at the earliest opportunity and get the facts.

Republican Managers Indignant Over La Follette's Charges.
WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Senator La Follette's charge that Republican campaign managers are raising a huge slush fund to elect President Coolidge aroused the Republican leaders to white heat.

There was cusping and gnashing of teeth about the Republican National Committee headquarters yesterday. President Coolidge was exercised, but did not make any public utterance on the subject. Republicans who called on him congratulated him on his coolness, and advised him to pay no attention to La Follette.

Although no member of the Senate Committee on Campaign Contributions, headed by Borah of Idaho, is here to say what will be done about the allegations, the opinion among members of Congress is that under the provisions of the resolution creating the committee an investigation must be held. It is understood here that Borah has promised to call the committee together at the earliest opportunity and get the facts.

Butler Asks Who Is Contributing to La Follette Fund.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, Oct. 9.—William M. Butler, chairman of the Republican National Committee, replied to Senator La Follette's slush fund charges yesterday with the assertion that "the whole story is bunk."

"I am glad that the Senator has introduced this topic," he said. "It gives me the opportunity to call on the Republican voters of Pennsylvania, New York and New Jersey, and all other states, over my own name, and to ask that they at once contribute and contribute liberally to our fund."

"I would like to inquire as to what is the total of the money he has so far received from the Democratic leaders who are engaged in this conspiracy to throw the election into the House."

"What about money for the California campaign? The campaign is being conducted in his name. Who are the men paying the bills? Who has contributed the money for the Southern California district? How much did they give? What pledges and promises has he made in return for the funds which have been given?"

Pennsylvania Democratic Chairman Wires Borah.

HAZELTON, Pa., Oct. 9.—John H. Bigelow, chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania, has joined Senator La Follette in his request for an investigation of an alleged "slush fund" being collected by Republican leaders.

In a telegram to Senator Borah, Bigelow said:

"As chairman of the Democratic State Committee of Pennsylvania, I heartily concur in Senator La Follette's request for an investigation of the campaign contributions and the expenditure of the Republican Party and Means Committee for Pennsylvania."

"It is a notorious fact that every specially protected industry in Pennsylvania is being canvassed by a series of letters and interviews demanding gratitude for congressional favors and special privileges received by them, and suggesting reprisals if the appeal fails. If you determine upon an investigation, Pennsylvania in which distribution we will furnish information concerning the doubtful districts of investigation. Pennsylvania in which distribution likely will be made."

Armstrong's Linoleum for Every Floor in the House

The Entrance Hall
A floor of Armstrong's Straight Line Inlaid with a border of Armstrong's Plain Black Linoleum.

This Floor Is More Than Pretty

IMAGINE the charm of this entrance hall in its full color.

There is a hint of stateliness in the door architecture, the verandah columns, and the curve of the stair rail. The first step toward enhancing this lovely effect was getting a beautiful floor instead of the old wood floor with its gaping cracks and scarred surface. This floor is Armstrong's Inlaid Linoleum in black and cream tile, with a border of plain black linoleum. It is a foundation of beauty for a beautiful hallway.

This pretty floor is permanent and easy to clean

A floor of Armstrong's Linoleum has several advantages besides its beauty of color and design. Properly laid—that is, cemented down over a layer of builders' deadening felt—it is a permanent floor, never buckling or stretching, but always remaining tight and smooth through any weather, and many years.

Then, too, the linoleum floor is notably easy to clean and to keep clean. It never needs refinishing. Such a floor should not be scrubbed or scoured. Your linoleum floor should be washed as soon as it is laid, then waxed thoroughly and polished, and after that, the only care is the daily use of a dry mop. The surface dust is easily brushed up. Going over it about once a week with a cloth moistened in liquid wax keeps the polish high. About twice a year a thorough re-waxing and polishing, and the floor grows handsomer as years go by.

Where to get floors of linoleum

You can find Armstrong's Linoleum in the new colors and modern designs at any good furniture or department store. If you want a permanent floor, it is wise to have an experienced linoleum layer cement your linoleum floor for you. Good merchants are prepared to render this service.

Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs
Armstrong's Linoleum Rugs, printed or inlaid, like all Armstrong's Linoleum, are made of cork, linoleum, oil, and burlap, and have the Circle "A" trademark on the back.

BETTER MECHANISMS NOTED AT AUTO SHOW

Exhibit Directs Attention to Improvements in Engines and Chassis.

Mechanically the automobile show being held all this week in the Downtown Garage building, Ninth and Walnut streets, offers more than any previous car exposition held here. The last year has seen many improvements in engines and chassis, and this is the first time there has been any opportunity to compare them advantageously.

Among the most significant are the oil refiners or rectifiers on the Chrysler and Rickenbacker cars. All oil in a Chrysler goes through the refiner every 25 miles and is thoroughly cleaned of all impurities, including water and gasoline. The result, of course, is less oil consumption and less wear on cylinders, pistons and other moving parts of the engine. Through creation of a vacuum by means of grooves and tongues in the pistons on Rickenbacker cars, all surplus oil is sucked from cylinder walls and piston rings and drawn into a still, which is heated by the exhaust and completely distills, refines and purifies the oil. The purified oil is returned to the crankcase and the gasoline, water and other impurities are vaporized and consumed.

Air-Cleaning Systems.
Both these cars and the Franklin are equipped with highly developed air cleaners, which cleanse all air drawn into the engine of dirt, dust and other things which cause carbon and grit in the cylinders.

For years there has been a strong feeling that a better method of gear shifting could be devised. One of the successful attempts to make gear shifting easy, and at the same time prevent clashing and stripping of gears and furnish a means of quickly increasing the breaking power of cars, is the Traffic transmission which is standard on Chandler cars. This simple mechanism not only robs gear shifting of all terrors and annoyances, but also takes the danger out of steep grades.

Another improvement which catches the eye is the "one-shot" lubrication system on Cleveland cars. Pressure on a plunger which projects through the floor boards of a Cleveland lubricates virtually every moving part of the chassis.

Vibration Elimination.
Elimination of vibration has been one of the vital problems of automobile engineering. The Willys-Knight has just made standard equipment the Lancheester balancer, an ingenious device which is attached to the crankshaft and really does make the motor operate as smoothly as a six-cylinder engine. A number of cars such as the Flint "55" and the Franklin have seven-bearing crankshafts, which do away with engine whip and distortion. The Gardner gets excellent results from its engine with five-bearing crankshaft, said to be the only four-cylinder motor of the kind. On the Maxwell car, the front end of the engine is mounted with spring suspension, instead of rigidly, and the result is a marked quietness of operation. The ease and quiet with which a Reo motor runs are due largely to the use of a sub-frame in which engine and transmission are cradled, thus being protected from road shocks while at the same time vibrations from the engine are not so easily transmitted to the frame and body. The manner in which frames and bodies of all Durant-built cars, including Star, Durant and Flint, withstand strains and racking jolts is due to the "tubular back bone" which is an integral part of each Durant-made chassis. The "super six" principle for years has made Hudson cars unusually powerful and quiet for the size of their motors, and it now serves Essex cars in the same way.

ST. CHARLES WOMEN HOPE TO GET OUT 75 PER CENT OF VOTE

House-to-house Canvass Will Be Made Under Direction of Voters' League.

"We expect at least 75 per cent of the women voters in St. Charles to go to the polls at the general election Nov. 4," said Mrs. George E. Hestwood, president of the St. Charles branch of the Women Voters' League, in outlining the vote-getting drive before members of the league in the city hall yesterday afternoon. Mrs. Hestwood said a house-to-house campaign by committees would begin next week. Prof. G. Motley of Lindenwood College and secretary of the St. Charles County Democratic Committee spoke, concluding his remarks with a boost for good roads proposition No. 6. Prosecuting Attorney W. F. Bloebaum, candidate for re-election, also spoke.

The bitter story of GABRIELLE OF THE RED KIMONO

"We are here to fight"—is no idle slogan for SMART SET.

Adela Rogers St. Johns to whom all Hollywood confides its secrets, says that this is the most tragic story she has ever heard. We print it as a plea that the woman with a past may have a future—to keep girls from being forced by a single misstep to a lifetime of mistakes. Gabrielle did kill a man. Jurors exonerated her. Uplifters exploited her—and then deserted her. Tell us, after you read her true story, what you think Gabrielle might have done!

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The stands at Griffith stadium filled slowly for the sixth game of the world series. Two defeats of Walter Johnson, constituting the greatest tragedy in the history of the world title series, have undermined the morale of the Washington fans and apparently there are many who do not care to be in at the killing. One more victory and the winners share of the million will belong to the Giants.

U. S. Attorney-General Sees No Violation of Law in O'Connell Case

By the Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The U. S. attorney-general today made it plain that he saw no violation of law in the case of the New York Giants. The department of justice has been asked to prosecute the case of the New York Giants, who were expelled from the National League for alleged violation of the Federal law against interstate commerce.

Youngster's Work Indicates That McGraw Is Well Fixed for Third Sacker for Next Ten Years; Fireball King Says Giants Beat Him Fairly.

By Walter Johnson,
Washington's Great Pitcher.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—Well, it seems to be my luck to win a game in the world's series. I have had my chance and failed. I am sorry, but that doesn't matter. The Giants beat me fairly. I felt fine yesterday and had plenty of stuff. I was times when I seemed a wild bird, but I thought my coat was generally good. The trouble was that the Giants hit me hard in tight places. Lindstrom seemed to like my pitching. He cracked me for four hits and three of them were good hard smashes. That youngster is a wonder; easily the brightest star in this series.

ANATOLE FRANCE QUIETLY DYING, HIS FRIENDS NEAR

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch. (Copyright, 1924)

PARIS, Oct. 9.—The quiet Lorraine countryside is more than usually hushed, as in a comfortable old country house near Tours a few intimate friends are assembled for the passing of one of France's great men.

"This is my last day," Anatole France murmured calmly yesterday, his eyes fixed lovingly and regretfully on the parkland and woods visible from his bedroom window.

At all times he preserves complete lucidity of mind, though he sinks into profound sleep at intervals. He recognized a new nurse yesterday as one who attended him a year ago and smiled as he pronounced her name. Occasionally he takes a little milk and cooked fruit, but now at 80 his strength is ebbing.

"So this is death!" he exclaimed once, awakening as if in surprise that he was still alive. "It is long coming," and he sighed.

In the midst of the great grief of his friends he remains serene, except when his artist's soul revolts at the ravages he imagines the hand of death has already wreaked on his features.

"Don't look at me. I must be horrible," he cries fretfully at such moments.

To Publish Names of Vote "Slackers."

By the Associated Press.

AURORA, Ill., Oct. 9.—Names of all legal voters who fail to go to the polls at the presidential election will be published, according to A. W. Shipton, president of the Aurora Kiwanis Club, which is conducting a get-out-a-complete-vote campaign. "Every man and woman who is entitled to vote and who stays away from the polls on election day is a slacker," he declared. The names will be taken from poll books in each precinct after the election, he said.

The Good Janesville (BALL BEARING)

A HIGH-GRADE COASTER WAGON —NEVER CHEAPENED

Janesville standards of 40 years have withstood the ravages of price-cutting competition. Janesville quality has remained unimpaired. Patented ball-bearings have remained part of the standard equipment despite the temptation to cheapen production cost by the use of roller bearings. There could be no satisfactory substitute for the selected ash bolsters, nor for the rim-bound, double-disc wheels, nor the oversize rubber tires, put on by a special Janesville process.

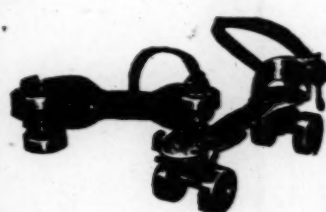

These outstanding features have helped to maintain Janesville's leading place among the highest grade coaster wagons. They have built and maintained Janesville's reputation and made

JANESVILLE'S NAME ITS BOND

Speed and strength and service may safely be promised the Janesville owner because it has long ago passed the tests of experiment and trial—because it must be speedy, strong and serviceable to preserve the Janesville name, and to be true to Janesville traditions.

All that Janesville's proud name and great prestige stand for—all the promise of excellence that goes with 40 years of achievement and advancement in vehicle manufacturing—form a reassuring background to the offer made by the Post-Dispatch to give

A JANESVILLE (BALL-BEARING) FREE TO EVERY ELIGIBLE BOY AND GIRL

A Pair of Sherwood Steel Racers (Ball Bearing) Free, in Combination With the Free Janesville Offer During October!

No additional requirement—the Sherwood Racers—superior in their class. Janesville is among coaster wagons—are offered with the Janesville for four new subscriptions during the entire month. Now is the time to enroll!

HERE ARE TERMS OF THE OFFER—READ CAREFULLY

Offer is open to boys and girls who are not identified with the sale or distribution of the POST-DISPATCH, residing within the city carrier delivery limits of St. Louis, and in towns where daily editions of the Post-Dispatch are delivered by local newsdealers.

4 subscriptions are required each for 6 months. No extra credit for yearly subscriptions.

New subscriptions are required—from persons not now reading the Daily POST-DISPATCH, whether purchased from newsboys or newsdealers, or delivered by carrier.

Daily subscriptions are required. No credit allowed for Sunday POST-DISPATCH subscriptions. A Sunday POST-DISPATCH reader who has not been reading the daily POST-DISPATCH may subscribe through you under this plan.

Verified subscriptions are required. We investigate the validity of the order and the subscriber's responsibility. All orders are received subject to acceptance or rejection by the POST-DISPATCH.

Home-Delivered subscriptions are required. Business district readers are better served by newsboys and cannot be included under the terms of this offer. This makes necessary a definitely restricted area in St. Louis and orders will not be accepted for delivery within the district bounded

ON THE NORTH BY CASS AV.
ON THE SOUTH BY CHOUTEAU AV.
ON THE WEST BY GRAND BL.
ON THE EAST BY THE MISSISSIPPI RIVER

Bring or send this Enrollment Blank to the Post-Dispatch Janesville Wagon Bureau, 12th and Sts., St. Louis, Mo.

Let Red Crown Save Your Car

The High-Grade Gasoline

Save Your Car

THE batteries and starting motor of your car are the headquarters of its emotional system. A heavy engine wears out the batteries, just as it would wear out your patience and your strength should you try to turn it over with a crank.

It is not so far-fetched as it may seem, to compare engine mechanism with human mechanism. Every one who drives has remarked the individuality and responsiveness, or lack of it, in the car he handles.

Red Crown Gasoline increases engine responsiveness. It vaporizes at a low temperature and burns completely to the end of the piston stroke.

It relieves the strain on your starting motor and batteries. This is one of the many economy features in Red Crown. Red Crown makes batteries last longer and give better service.

The "satisfaction" service of Red Crown lies in your thrill at the ready response when you touch the starting motor—at the flexibility of your engine and the steady flow of sustained pulling power.

Satisfaction Plus Economy—in this unusual combination lies the true reason for Red Crown popularity. And remember this: permanent satisfaction in a gasoline lies in never changing. Use Red Crown all the time. It's easy to do so, for Red Crown distribution is nearly 100% perfect. You can find it everywhere and everywhere the same.

WORKMEN, BLASTING FOR SEWER, FIND LARGE CAVE

Natural Chamber, 75 Feet Below Street, Contains Many Stalac-tites.

A large, natural cave, of undetermined area, was discovered yesterday 75 feet below the street surface at Lafayette and Nebraska avenues, when workmen, after touching off a blast in the sewer passage under construction there, noticed water seeping through an aperture in the roof of their tunnel.

Upon widening the opening they were able to climb into a chamber hollowed out of limestone, approximately 30 feet in width and varying from 10 to 7 feet in height, fantastically hung with stalactites pointing down to their inverted complement, the stalagmites.

When they first entered the air was so lacking in oxygen that their matches would not ignite, said Lyman L. Livingston, vice-president and chief engineer of the Union Construction Co., who led the expedition. They walked for about 200 feet towards the southwest, following a narrow stream of clear, cold water and turned back before they reached the end of the passage. Before coming to the surface, Livingston broke off several of the large Stalactites. One of them, a three-pronged formation of an onyx quartz composition resembles a huge, extracted molar; another has the branching shape of an elk's horns.

The sewer, a project provided by the municipal bond issue, is to run from the new Mill Creek sewer 6600 feet south to California and Sidney streets. In excavating the workmen have found numerous marine fossils, and a large petrified turtle.

Gov. Smith Recovers.

BOSTON, Oct. 9.—Gov. Smith of New York, who was compelled yesterday by an attack of rheumatism to cancel the remainder of his New England speaking tour on behalf of the Democratic national ticket, was so far recovered today as to plan for his return to New York by Saturday. "I am taking my medicine," he said. "The last time the rheumatism got me I tried bulldozging it. It threw me hard. With a three-weeks' campaign in New York facing me, however, I cannot take any chances of becoming crippled."

A Notable Cash Buying Achievement That Emphasizes Our Policy of "BETTER CLOTHES FOR LESS MONEY"

SAVE 30% to 40% ON STYLISH FALL AND WINTER CLOTHING

The policy responsible for the success of this store is like an open book. Cash selling and cash buying, and the elimination of all expensive overhead, makes possible our guarantee of "Better Clothes for Less Money" at all times. But occasionally there are circumstances that permit unusual purchases, making this guarantee even more emphatic. This season the demand for lower-priced clothing was so exceptional that makers of finer quality Fall and Winter Clothing found themselves overproduced on better-grade garments. With the season at hand, they were forced to seek large cash buyers and liquidate these fine clothes at the same low prices that ordinary quality usually bring. Thus cash has wielded an even greater power than in the past. One maker, in particular, among the finest in America in the production of garments of better fabric and superior hand-tailoring, sold us a thousand of his best Suits and Overcoats, with the understanding that we omit his name from our advertising. You will recognize his label in our finer ranges. Starting Friday we offer our complete Fall and Winter stocks of men's, young men's, youths' and boys' apparel in a merchandising event that emphasizes this store's growing leadership in the distribution of clothing. Come, investigate, compare, and be convinced that "Better Clothes for Less Money" means more style and quality at savings to you of from 30% to 40%.

Edna Ferber

ONCE, early in December, Selma went into town. The trip was born of sudden revolt against her surroundings, and a great wave of nostalgia for the dirt and clamor and crowds of Chicago. Early Saturday morning Klaas drove her to the railway station, five miles distant. She was to stay until Sunday. A letter had been written Julie Hempel 10 days before, but there had been no answer. Once in town she went straight to the Hempel house. Mrs. Hempel, thin-lipped, met her in the hall and said that Julie was out of town. She was visiting her friend, Miss Arnold, in Kansas City. Selma was not asked to stay for dinner. She was not asked to sit down. When she left the house her great fine eyes seemed larger and more deep-set than ever, and her jawline was set hard against the invasion of tears. Suddenly she hated this Chicago that wanted none of her; that brushed past her, bumping her elbow and offering no apology; that clanged and shrieked and whistled and roared in her ears, now grown accustomed to the prairie silence.

"I don't care," she said, which meant she did. "I don't care. Just you wait. Some day I'm going to be—oh, terribly important! And people will say, 'Do you know that wonderful Selma Peake?' Well, they say she used to be a country school teacher and slept in an old room and ate pork three times a day. There! I know what I'm going to do. I'm going to have lunch on and I'll order the most delicious things. I think I'll go to the Palmer House, where, father and I, no, I couldn't stand that. I'll go to the Auditorium Hotel restaurant and have ice cream; and chicken broth in a silver cup; and cream puffs; and all kinds of vegetables and little lamb chops in paper panties. And orange pekoe tea."

She actually did order all these things and had a group of amazed waiters hovering about her table waiting to see her devour this meal, much as a similar group had stared at David Copperfield when he was innocent of having bolted the huge dinner ordered in the inn on his way to London.

She ate the ice cream and drank the orange pekoe (mainly because she loved the sound of its name); it made her think of chrysanthemums and cherry blossoms, spices, fans and slant-eyed maidens. She devoured a crisp salad with the avidity of a canary pecking at a lettuce leaf. She flirted with the lamb chops. She remembered the size of her father's generous tips and she summed up the table that temporarily dulled the edge of the waiter's hatred of women diners. But the luncheon could not be said to have been a success. She thought of dinner, and her spirit quailed. She spent the time between one and three buying portable presents for the entire Pool household—including bananas for Gertrude and Josina, for whom that farinaceous fruit had the fascination always held for the farm child. She caught a train at 4:35 and actually trudged the five miles from the station to the farm, arriving half-frozen, weary with aching arms and nipped toes, to a great welcome of the squeals, grunts, barks and gutturals that formed the expression of the Pool household. She was astonished to find how happy she was to return to the kitchen stove, to the smell of frying pork, to her own room and the walnut bed and the pink sheet. Even the grim drum had shaken on the dear and comforting aspect of the accustomed.

High Prairie swains failed to find Selma alluring. She was too small, too pale and fragile for their robust taste. Naturally, her coming had been an event in this isolated community. She would have been surprised to know with what eagerness and curiosity High Prairie gathered crumbs of news about her; her appearance, her manner, her dress. Was she stuck up? Was she new fangled? She failed to notice the agitation of the parlor curtains behind the glittering windows of the farmhouse she passed on her way to school. With no visible means of communicating news of her leaped from farm to farm as flame leaps the gaps in a forest fire. She would have been astounded to learn that High Prairie, inexplicably enough, knew all about her from the color of the ribbon that threaded her neat little white corset covers to the number of books on her shelf. She thought cabbage fields beautiful; she read books to that dumb-acting Reelf Pool; she was making over a dress for the High Prairie pattern of the stylish brown lady's cloth she wore (foolishly) to school. Now and then she encountered a team on the road. She would call a good-day. Sometimes the driver answered, tardily, as though surprised. Sometimes he only stared. She almost never saw the High Prairie farm women, busy in their kitchens.

On her fifth Sunday in the district she accompanied the Pools to the morning service at the Dutch Reformed Church. Maartje seldom had the time for such frivolity. But on this morning Klaas hitched up the big farm wagon with the double seat and took the family complete—Maartje, Selma, Reelf, and the piglets. Maartje face. But he did not. He yawned suddenly and capaciously. The Reformed Dutch congregation leaned back, feeling smug. Handsome, certainly, Selma reflected. But then, probably Klaas Pool, too, had been handsome a few years ago.

The service ended, there was much talk of the weather, seedlings, stock, the approaching holiday season. Maartje, her Sunday dinner heavy on her mind, was elbowing her way up the aisle. Here and there she introduced Selma briefly to a woman friend. "Mrs. Vander Sijde, meet schoolteacher."

"Aggie's mother?" Selma would begin, primly, only to be swept along by Maartje on her way to the door. "Mrs. von Mijnen, meet schoolteacher. Is Mrs. von Mijnen?" They regarded her with a grim gaze. Selma would smile and nod rather nervously, feeling young, frivolous, and somehow guilty.

When, with Maartje, she reached the church porch Pervus de Jong was unobtrusively the dejected horse that was harnessed to his battered and lopsided cart. The animal stood with four feet bunched together in a drooping and pathetic attitude, the church steps inevitably meant for mating with this decrepit vehicle. De Jong untied the reins quickly, and was about to step into the sagging conveyance when the Widow Paarlberg sauntered down the church steps with an admirable speed for one so amply proportioned. She made straight for him, skirts billowing, flounces flying, plumes waving. Maartje clutched Selma's arm. "Look how she makes! She asks him to eat Sunday dinner. I bet you! See once how he makes with his head no."

Selma—and the whole congregation unashamedly watching—could indeed see how he made with his head no. His whole body seemed set in negation—the fine head, the broad patient shoulders, the muscular powerful legs in their ill-fitting Sunday blacks. He shook his head, gathered up the reins, and drove away, leaving the Widow Paarlberg to carry off with such bawling as she could muster, such public flouting in full sight of the Dutch Reformed congregation of High Prairie. It must be said that she actually achieved this feat with a rather magnificent composure.

Her round pink face, as she turned away, was placid; her great comely eyes mild. Selma abandoned the pink poker smile for that of a great Persian cat, full-fed and treacherous, its claws all sheathed, its body a mass of sleek, shining, and its sleek head, and was off down the hard snowless road, her head high.

"Well!" exclaimed Selma, feeling as though she had witnessed the first act of an exciting play. And she breathed deeply. So, too, did the watching congregation, so that the widow could be said to have driven off in quite a gust.

As they jogged home in the Pool farm wagon Maartje told her tale with a good deal of savor.

Laundrying Lace Curtains

SHAKE out as much dust as possible and soak the curtains in plenty of cold water, changing it several times during the first five or six hours. To a tub of strong soap-suds add two tablespoonfuls of borax dissolved in boiling water.

Squeeze curtains out of the cold water and soak them in the soap-suds for 12 hours, then wash and squeeze them gently and press out the soapy water (if greatly soiled, repeat this process). Put into a clean tub, cover with boiling water and let stand an hour then rinse in two clean waters. Carefully run them through the wringer, starch with a thin starch, using one cup starch to a gallon water.

Stretch on the frames or on sheets placed over the floor rug, being careful to stretch them perfectly straight and having every point held in position by the pins.

Collars and Cuffs Feature Winter Styles

By ALLEN LAMONT.

STYLES are not going to be put over with a punch this winter. The same effect will be obtained with a cuff and a collar. For cuffs and collars are the outstanding features of the costumes this fall. Coats, suits, dresses and blouses all are adorned with cuffs or have at least the suggestion of a cuff at the end of the long tight sleeves.

Equally imperative are collars as high as the fence which surrounds exclusive society. In these two adjuncts to the modern costume are centered all the flair and color of the day time frocks. In general, the suits and dresses are somber in shade with dull blues, browns and modest sand color predominating but practically all collars and cuffs carry, if not a flaming splash of color, at least a contrasting tint.

These contrasts are frequently emphasized by a buttoniere of flowers picked from a conservatory or a window box but from a milliner's show case. For example, an imitation organdie gardenia costing 50 cents is far more swaggy than a $15 orchid secured at a florist.

Handkerchiefs also carry out the decorative color scheme. In fact, the fashionable world still is handkerchief crazy. Many of the newest muchoirs are also in the shape of flowers with a small loop or hole in the center through which a finger is slipped. They have the artificial flowers, frequently have a small sachet concealed within their folds.

Square handkerchiefs of brilliant hues are used as trimmings on all sorts of gowns. One of the latest dinner frocks imported here is of crepe of the brown shade known as "sours." On the front is fastened by one corner a handkerchief in exactly the same manner that a 6-year-old school girl's handkerchief is fastened to her pinafore with a safety pin.

One of the newest top coats has huge, deep, mock-up collars of alternate triangles of antelope and leopard skin over a blue kasha. Another coat of black cord satin embroidered with black cord and voluminous as to resemble twin muffs. Still another has the elbow deep cuffs trimmed with immense masses of monkey fur.

FAMOUS WOMEN

FANNY CROSBY.

FANNY CROSBY was born at Southeast, N. Y., on March 4, 1870, and when an infant of six weeks was permanently blinded by the application of hot poultices to her eyes. When 15 years of age she entered the New York Institute for the Blind, where she displayed uncommon ability, being later employed there for a number of years as a teacher. In 1893 she became the bride of Alexander Van Alstyne, a blind teacher, who composed the music for many of her hymns, and who died in 1902. Her first literary efforts were poems and secular songs, and she was 45 when she composed the first of her nearly 800 hymns, of which the best known perhaps are "Safe in the Arms of Jesus," "Jesus Keep Me Near the Cross," and "Jesus the Water of Life Will Give." Despite her infirmity she was a most prolific writer and had 105 different hymns de plume, because her publishers did not want her name to appear too often in their books.

She died nine years ago in Bridgeport, Conn., in her ninety-fifth year.

Fashionable theaters in Japan have their boxes so arranged that women can change their dresses, as it is not considered stylish for a woman to appear an entire evening in one dress and with the same ornaments.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Prop Them Up.

Tea and coffee pots should be thoroughly dried after washing and then allowed to stand with the lids half off or raised so air can reach the inside and keep it sweet.

Rusty Knives.

If steel knives are rusted from being put away, soak the blades in sweet oil for about an hour. Then thrust them in the garden soil several times. Polish with fine emery powder and the blades will be like new.

Easy Enough.

After frying any spatter food wipe off the stove with an old newspaper. It will not only make the stove clean and polish better but will do away with any odor of cooking that would linger around the spattered grease.

Forethought.

One housewife who packs her husband's lunch frequently makes her pies in the form of tarts or buns baked in ramekins. Then the following day one or two of these delicious dainties can be packed in hubby's lunch.

NEW YORK.—The light wool scarf in rainbow colors comes with the autumn coolness. For sports wear it is often wound once around the hat and twice about the throat.

LONDON.—Of a sudden, many smart women have discarded rouge and are going in for olive complexion. The olive complexion is achieved by a special olive-tinted powder, and in some cases "is" becoming.

Easy Meal!

FROM can to pan to table quick! Fine salted codfish, mixed with potatoes, seasoned and ready for use. Shape into six big cakes and "simply fry" in hot fat. Then serve, sizzling with deep-sea flavor! A delicious meal in ten minutes, and it costs but a few cents. Try a can today! And insist on Underwood's "Simplifry" Codfish Cakes. WM. UNDERWOOD CO., BOSTON

HOME-MAKING HELPS

"Everything About the House Helps to Make the Home"

By WANDA BARTON

"Built-In" Solve Many Problems Beautifully

WHERE the rooms are small and you are not an owner it is foolish to buy a lot of things just to fit these particular rooms. It is cheaper to build in a few things and when you go take them out. Or if you feel they have served their purpose leave them. A corner closet for the dining room, for instance, can be made in such a way that it can be removed. The closet may have a door below concealing two shelves; a space above the door may become a resting place for silver pieces used on the table; above that a glass paneled or diamond paneled door may close on 3 shelves with little hooks under each for the tea and coffee cups. The closet holds much more than a china closet that could be purchased, for a small room and it takes up only a corner.

In a space behind standing steam pipes open shelves placed from the floor as high as need be, will take a lot of the books and do away with buying the extra bookcase that makes the room still smaller. Where there is a door into another room not absolutely needed, save space that will hold many books may be placed across the opening.

The space above the radiator in a corner of the room may be fitted with shelves for books. All these suggestions are made to use space which does not take from the size of the room.

One woman had a carpenter make a box holding two shelves and placed on casters to roll right under the grand piano and in it she kept her music. On the front at either side were two handles that made it very easy to manage.

If the kitchen is small a drop leaf may be hinged to the end of the table and makes a fine ironing board. By repairing and building in we can save buying much unneeded furniture.

Every Woman Should Know

THAT she can save time and beads when restringing her necklace by dipping the end of the thread into softened gum arabic and rolling it between the fingers until it is hard and very pointed. The smallest beads will readily pass over this point.

That fine lace handkerchiefs should be put into warm water containing a few drops of ammonia and washed with castile soap. They should not be ironed. Pull the lace in shape and spread handkerchief on a glass or any smooth surface to dry.

That when she has finished knitting a sweater she can press it beautifully by laying it out flat on a newspaper spread on the floor.

Eat ALTUS SANDWICH SPREAD

Call for ALTUS Sandwich Spread by name. Remember, there is no other spread so wholesome or so pleasing to the taste. Made of only the finest, fresh vegetables and spices. Delicately blended with a flavor that can't be equalled. Don't take a chance with inferior products. Insist on ALTUS Sandwich Spread.

SAYINGS OF MRS. SOLOMON

By HELEN ROWLAND

THE SPORT OF QUEENS.
My DAUGHTER, the Sport of Queens, now and forever, is the pursuit of the wild bachelor. And, for this there is NO "closed season!"
Then gird up thy loins with the new Paris imports, and prepare thy weapons for the Husband-hunt. For the "game" is more wily than the fox, and fleetier than the young gazelle.
Behold, the bachelors are of three varieties.
Those who beg a damsel not to capture them.
Those who warn her not to TRY.
And those who hand her a rope, and DARE her to capture them.
And, of these, the last is the most deadly, and the most intriguing. For, to bring down a tame and trembling pigeon is no sport; but defiance stirreth the blood of every Diana.
Go to, my Daughter. Be not deceived by the Singlefooters, that callesth himself "confirmed bachelor." For no wise woman regardeth any bachelor as "confirmed" until he is dead; and there is nothing "established" about any man's bachelorhood until it is announced in his obituary. Verily, so long as he can travel upon two feet he is fair game!
What though he entrench himself in a bachelor apartment, and surround himself with defenses, and men-servants, and fellow-bachelors?
The huntress will but sharpen her wits and her weapons and smile within her sleeve. Yea, she will say ha-ha! For, she knoweth that only the fearful and the vulnerable herd together in self-defense. The BRAVE man travelleth alone.
Yet, heed my counsel, my Daughter, and waste not thy weapons upon the Eligible Thing that fortifieth himself behind the skirts of a "mother and sister." Lo, then, doth a strong woman tremble, and a wise one turn away from the chase.
For no woman yet hath prevailed over THIS combination.
Yet, when a damsel setteth her heart upon the capture of a man, neither pleas, nor threats, nor mothers, nor sisters, nor defiance can stay her.
She is deaf to the warnings of her friends, and blind to the menace of her rivals; and only exhaustion can put an end to the Dance of Death which she performeth.
Verily, verily, Salome, herself, had nothing on her!
For, Salome was content with the head of her victim; but the modern huntress preferreth to take her captive, while he is still ALIVE—and fighting.
SELAH.

THE DAY OF THE SWEATER

By JANET WINSLOW.

THERE is one garment which enjoys a year round popularity with women. It is the sweater, of course. So many fresh and appealing styles have appeared this autumn that once again the shop windows displaying sweaters are coming in for as much attention as those that show lovely dress creations from Paris.
There are shaggy sweaters in every known shade of brown and green with the new high neckline and shoulder fastening. When the hip band and collar are of a smooth weave to match a ribbed skirt the two together are very smart. Another costume changes the order and is closely knit with fluffy wool for collars and cuffs.
If you were to top off a woolen costume of soft autumn colorings with one of the new small felt hats—perfectly plain—you would have a picture of what the outdoor girl of 1924 will look like to the girls of the future as they pore over old fashion magazines.
Mrs. Henrietta King, whose Texas ranch of more than a million acres is conceded to be the largest in the United States, recently celebrated her ninety-second birthday.
Miss Dorothy Logan, adjudged the most beautiful girl in Wyoming, has been selected as Princess Peoria for the oil convention to be held next month in Oklahoma.

HICKORY
Brother and Sister wear Hickory Garters, because they are strong and long-wearing. Hickory Baby Pants are equally good.
There's no stitching to tear out the rubber. With frequent washing, it never cracks or gums. And Hickory pants are ventilated for baby's comfort. Longwear in every pair. Flesh, white and natural, in wanted sizes. Made of Para Rubber.

Children's Bedtime Story

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

Bowser the Hound Finds a Clew

You'll often find a little clew.
If followed, leads you straight and true.

—Bowser the Hound.

BOWSER THE HOUND followed Farmer Brown's Boy and Farmer Brown over to the melon patch. He sat down at the side and watched Farmer Brown's Boy and Farmer Brown looking for footprints. Bowser was puzzled. He didn't know what they were looking for. He knew they were hunting for something, but what it could be he couldn't guess. Finally he decided that he would help them hunt.
So Bowser put his nose to the ground and began to sniff about among the melon vines. He wasn't sniffing for anything in particular, but just to see if his nose would find any news. Presently he came to the place where a thief had broken open a melon and eaten it. Right away his wonderful nose picked up some news.
Bowser took a long sniff and another. He lifted his head, opened his mouth and scrt his great voice roaring out across the Green Meadows. Then he put his nose to the ground again and began to run this way and that among the melon vines. Every now and then he barked.
"Bowser has found something," declared Farmer Brown's Boy, and hurried over to where Bowser had barked the first time. He studied the ground carefully. He found a footprint. He hadn't seen it before because he hadn't been looking for that kind of a footprint. He had been looking for human footprints. There was nothing human about this footprint. It was very much like a footprint as a dog might make. The first thought of Farmer Brown's Boy was that the one or ones who had stolen the melons, had had a dog with them.

"Bowser has found something," declared Farmer Brown's Boy

But Bowser the Hound knew better. It wasn't the scent of another dog that his wonderful nose picked up. In a moment or two his master understood this, for Bowser wouldn't have barked in the way he did if he had found the track of another dog. He might have growled a little, but he wouldn't have sent that great voice of his rolling across the Green Meadows as he was now doing. Barking like that is called baying, and Bowser bays only when he is following the trail of someone he delights to hunt.
"I guess Reddy Fox has been around here," said Farmer Brown's Boy to Farmer Brown. Then he called sharply to Bowser, for he didn't want Bowser to chase Reddy Fox. Bowser obeyed, but it was plainly to be seen that he didn't want to obey. He kept sniffing about and whining. He was eager to follow that trail.
Meanwhile Farmer Brown had been looking at some of the pieces of melon rind. "Son," said he and on his face was a puzzled look, "this melon wasn't broken open by hands. Teeth did it. Come look at this."
Farmer Brown's Boy looked. On

"What'll I Do?"

says the girl in Irving Berlin's song when her engagement is broken. But she isn't much worse off than the woman who has to look after the needs of house, children and husband and the "what'll I do" in the bargain.
Only in her case it's easy to answer. "What'll I Do?" Just call for our Rough Dry Service—and we'll do the washing and drying and the ironing of flat work at a low cost per pound.
